BELLS RING OUT WARNING

Give 200 Families Notice to Flee as the Howell Levee Breaks.

FLOOD CONDITION ALONG OHIO HOLDS

Evansville Rushes Relief by Boats to Isolated Districts.

Evansville, Ind., April 4.—The Ohio river continued to rise slowly here today, with a stage at 7 o'clock of 48.2 feet, practically four-tenths above the record of 1884, and no signs of abatement before late today.

High winds last night caused considerable small damage to houses in the flood areas in this city and in the bayous.

The Howell levee, protecting two hundred families in Ingleside, between this city and Howell, gave way shortly after daylight and the Ingleside district is now inundated with depths of from 6 to 10 feet. Heroic work for three days to protect the levees failed, and its breaking was expected. Minute men had been posted all along the dangerous dike and when the water began to pour over the top the alarm was sounded and bells were rung in Howell to warn the people in Ingleside to flee.

There was no loss of life. Street car service with Howell is cut off.

Conditions in the Wabash bottoms where the flood spent its greatest force in the last three days are somewhat ameliorated today. Relief boats from here reached Uniontown, Ky., and the 2,000 people there were marooned in the fair grounds without food and with only the shelter that the animal stalls provided are better situated today.

The north side of Evansville along Pigeon creek is flooded for a depth of from 3 to 10 feet and many families have been forced to leave. The upper boulevard levee, protecting a fashionable residence district bounded by Washington and Campbell streets is holding, although the wind washed waves over it last night. There is no fear that it will give way.

Relief measures by the city and the federal authorities stationed here for all the district below the city continued today. It is expected more boats will go to the lower district this afternoon.

CHURCH DECORATIONS, NOT SERMONS AT FAULT.

Chicago, April 4.—After a patient investigation the Rev. W. T. McElveen has reached the conclusion that the decorations of the First Congregational church at Evanston, and not his sermons have been responsible for the dreariness of his audiences.

For months he strove to stop the nodding of heads and then he sought the counsel of Miss Stella Skinner, art instructor at Northwestern university. After making an inspection of the church, she said:

"How can a person listen to an address when the decorations are inharmonious? When the curtains are pink, the cushions red and the decorations are yellow and blue the emotions of the audience are affected, and they become drowsy. What is needed is a system of colors that will not have a depressing effect."

Letters were sent today to members of the church asking that steps be taken to redecorate the building.

USE GUNS IN STRIKE RIOT

Six Persons Shot Down in Desperate Labor War at Auburn, N. Y.

POLICE BATTLE WITH MOB OF 300

Fire Department and Militia Called Out to Quell Disturbance.

Auburn, N. Y., April 4.—Six strike rioters were shot by the police today during an attack on the plant of the Columbus Rope company by a mob of 300 persons. Two of the six were fatally injured. After the shooting the situation became so serious that Mayor O'Neill called out the fire department and the local militia company.

The mob, all foreigners, gathered in the vicinity of the plant at 8 o'clock this morning.

Chief of Police Bell and a squad of thirty officers were stationed near. They attempted to arrest one of the leaders of the mob and the strikers became ugly. The prisoner was rescued from the police in a hand-to-hand battle and the blue coats were getting the worst of it when Chief Bell ordered them to draw their revolvers.

Fire Into Crowds.

One volley was fired over the heads of the strikers with no effect and the police were compelled to fire into the crowds. Six strikers, two women and four men, dropped. One of the women and one of the men will die.

After the shooting the mob formed and made another attack. The strikers obtained bags of salt and threw into the eyes of the police, who finally, to avoid further bloodshed, took up a position inside the mill gates. The strikers then charged on the gates. The police were fighting against great odds and rumors that many of the strikers had gone back to the foreign colonies to obtain weapons caused Chief Bell to send for the fire department.

Driven Back By Streams.

Lines of hose were laid and the strikers were driven back gradually. They continued in an ugly mood, however, and Mayor O'Neill decided to call out the militia. The riot call was sounded through the streets and within an hour Captain Johnson and half his company had assembled at the state armory.

They were ordered to patrol the entire city while the mayor went to parley with the strikers.

REFUSAL TO AID MEANS JAIL.

Prussian Law Requires Person to Act on Hearing Cry for Help.

Berlin, April 4.—The new laws have just been put in effect in Prussia. The first provides that any one who does not respond to a cry for help or fails to make an attempt to rescue a person in danger, when it is possible to do so without endangering his own life, may be imprisoned, if the person who was in danger loses his life. The second law makes intoxicated persons legally responsible for their actions.

CHURCHMEN HOLD ELECTION.

Officers Named by Episcopalian Congress in Charleston.

Charleston, S. C., April 4.—At yesterday's session of the church congress, a national organization of the Episcopal church, officers were elected as follows: General chairman, Rev. Dr. Charles Henry Babcock, New York; general secretary, Rev. Dr. A. G. Caratenson, New York; treasurer, Thomas Whittaker, New York; assistant secretaries, Rev. Dr. Cornelius B. Smith and Rev. John M. WILL CUT TARIFF $80,000,000 YEAR

Lowered Revenues Will Be Regained from New Income Tax.

ARE FRAMING REPORT

Wasington, April 4.—With President Wilson and congressional leaders practically agreed on free wool and a very low duty on sugar, eventually to become free, the ways and means committee today began drawing its report on the new tariff bill, estimating the loss of revenue from the new rates at $80,000,000 a year.

The revenue from the income tax will be estimated at a like amount, to be derived this way: Incomes of $4,000 to $20,000, 1 per cent; $20,000 to $50,000, 2 per cent; $50,000 to $100,000, 3 per cent; all over $100,000, 4 per cent. Flat tax on corporations, 1 per cent. The exemption will be on all incomes under $4,000. The income tax provision now stands this way and is not expected to be changed.

Among the numerous additions to the free list will be steel rails. Cuts will be made all along the line on the metal schedule. After the senate finance committee reviewed the bill today a subcommittee went to the conference with Chairman Underwood of the ways and means committee. There is now believed to be a general agreement all around.

President Wilson would like to see free sugar, but recognizes that a concession may be necessary to southern planters and would consent to a duty of practically 1 cent net per pound provided all duty would be removed within three years. This would mean for the present a duty of 1.20 to all countries except Cuba.

If the president can arrive at an agreement with the Louisiana senators on the sugar schedule there will be enough votes, it is generally assumed, to pass a tariff bill with free wool. On all other schedules there is substantial agreement between the president and congress.

The president has been told that either free wool or free sugar might pass, but that both could not.

This was the status today of the informal tariff conference between the president and members of congress.

The president canvassed the situation first today with Representative Broussard, senator-elect from Louisiana. Mr. Broussard told the president that while his constituents could stand a tariff cut, they believed the sugar industry of Louisiana would be destroyed by the complete removal of the duty. The president declared he had no desire to destroy any business, but hoped that within three years such a readjustment of the sugar business in Louisiana could be effected that the rest of the United

FRENCH RELEASE GERMAN AIRSHIP

War Craft Which Landed on French Soil Starts on Return Journey.

OPINION IS DIVIDED

Luneville, France, April 4.—The German air craft Zeppelin IV., which landed on the parade grounds here in the midst a brigade of French riflemen yesterday, was reinflated and departed for Germany at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The eleven officers and mechanics on board had been requested to remain in Luneville until the incident has been fully investigated.

The aviators asked last night if they might be allowed to sleep in the cabin of the airship, which is of about the same dimensions of a Pullman car. The French commandant consented to this and they passed the night on board, surrounded by fifty French sentinels, posted ostensibly to prevent the merely curious from approaching.

General Auguste E. Hirschauer, the chief of the aviation corps of the French army, arrived from Paris during the night to take charge of the investigation.

Opinion in military circles is divided as to whether the German aviators really lost their way or encountered engine trouble during an audacious attempt at espionage.

IT WAS BUSY DAY FOR THE HANGMAN

Four Murderers, Two White and Two Black, Swing at Montgomery.

ROPE SLIPS AT FIRST

Montgomery, Ala., April 4.—Two white men and two negroes, convicted of murder in Montgomery county, were hanged in the jail here today. The first to mount the scaffold was C. Walter Jones, white, sentenced for the murder of Sloan Rowan in a railroad train here. The trap was sprung at 6:18 o'clock but the rope slipped and Jones was not pronounced dead until thirty-six minutes later. Persons who witnessed the execution said deputies were compelled to hold Jones' body away from the floor.

The trap was sprung on Arnold Gilmer, white, at 7:18 o'clock. Seven minutes later physicians pronounced him dead. Gilmer was condemned for the murder of Mrs. Lucille Tippets on December 23, 1911.

John Adams, a negro, who killed a Montgomery patrolman, was pronounced dead 14 minutes after the trap was sprung. Sixteen minutes was required for the execution of Coleman German, negro, who killed his wife.

New Party Caucus is Open to Public; Women Have Part

Washington, April 4.—The unprecedented spectacle of a party legislative caucus, open to the public, and attended by women, was seen at the capitol today, when the house progressives called their first conference.

Less than a score of members of the new house were on hand for the conference, but Representative Murdock, of Kansas, leader of the new party, declared that many new members, unable to reach Washington in time for today's conference had enlisted in the progressive party by letter.

The program for today's conference included reading of a "keynote" message from Theodore Roosevelt, speeches by members of the caucus and the placing of representative Murdock in nomination as the new party's candidate for speaker.

Representatives Hinebaugh and Murdock, the most active in the movement, expect an increase in membership later and are pressing for recognition on important committees. They demand the right of a distinct party in congress. They have a legislative program, a candidate for speaker, and count on the backing of the national party organization with the personal influence of former President Roosevelt.

Old Parties Outworn, Says Murdock.

"We constitute a new party because the old parties are outworn," declared Mr. Murdock, in his announcement as speakership candidate.

"The elements which control the democratic party come half-heartedly, incompetently and with inadequate weapons to battle with the powers that prey and pillage. Those who have perverted the purposes of the republican party are in league with privilege and at heart distrustful of all majorities. Our war is with an enemy that fears neither the republicans nor the democratic party. Our struggle is with the forces of privilege. There is a new party in the land; the tramp of four million citizens, who, without time for organization, marched

County Superintendent of Schools Tenders His Resignation.

IT PUTS AN END TO IMPEACHMENT

Action Follows Outcome of Vice Investigation by Grand Jury.

Henry G. Felger, county superintendent of schools, today placed his resignation in the hands of Trustee Henry Branning, of Wayne township, chairman of the county board of education. It is understood the resignation will be promptly accepted.

Felger's action follows the outcome of the recent grand jury investigation involving the delinquency of young girls in Fort Wayne. No indictment was returned against the superintendent, but impeachment charges were lodged against him for alleged gross immorality, and the demand was made for his removal from office. The return day on the impeachment charges was April 10.

Has No Public Statement.

Further than the facts contained in the resignation Mr. Felger has no statement to make to the public. This was agreed upon at a conference with his attorneys, who advised him against this step, for the reason that neither he or the public generally would be benefited.

He consulted with Attorneys Thomas and Townsend and County Attorney E. G. Hoffman in the matter, and they represented him in the preparation and the presentation of his resignation, which was forwarded this morning.

Men After the Place.

Since Mr. Felger's name became connected with the scandal cases and after the impeachment proceedings had been instituted there have been a number of active candidates for his place and the most prominently mentioned today was Fred Smith, principal of the school at Harlan.

In addition to this applicant B. H. Smith, principal of the New Haven school, has been mentioned as a candidate, and it is likely that he will enter the race for the vacancy. Still another receptive candidate is Principal Parker of Monroeville and Paul Wilke is also grooming himself for the contest. Mr. Wilke was a candidate for the place at one time and was beaten out by Mr. Felger.

Probably Knew It Was Coming.

Although it is not admitted, it is pretty generally believed that the trustees had been given to understand that Mr. Felger would advise them during this week whether he would resist the impeachment proceedings or quit his place.

The resignation settles the matter. There will be no proceedings against him and when the case is called in the circuit court the fact there has been a resignation will be entered and the matter dropped.

MISS ROOSEVELT BRIDE OF DOCTOR

Youngest Daughter of Ex-President Weds Dr. Richard Derby.

IS SIMPLE CEREMONY

Oyster Bay, N. Y., April 4.—Miss Ethel Roosevelt, daughter of Theodore Roosevelt, was married in Christ Episcopal church here at noon today to Dr. Richard Derby, of New York. Two hundred close friends and relatives of the bride and bridegroom saw the ceremony. Rev. Dr. George E. Talmadge, pastor of the local church, assisted by Rev. Dr. Cotton Smith, of Washington, and Rev. Dr. Endicott Peabody, of Groton, Mass., performed the ceremony. The bride's attendants were the Misses Helen Coster, Josephine Osborn, Margaret Tucker, Mary Derby and Cornelia Langdon. The bridegroom's brother, Roger A. Derby, was best man. Dr. and Mrs. Derby will sail for Europe tomorrow.

The church was not elaborately decorated for the wedding because of the wish of Col. and Mrs. Roosevelt to have the ceremony performed with as little display as possible. The reception at the house will be a short one.

It is not expected that more than 200 guests will be present and these will be the friends of Miss Roosevelt and Dr. Derby. The friends of the colonel and Mrs. Roosevelt have been omitted from the list of the invited, because this is to be no white house wedding such as marked the marriage of Miss Alice Roosevelt to former Representative Nicholas Longworth.

While Col. and Mrs. Roosevelt have declined to say anything about the presents for Miss Roosevelt it is known that she has received many beautiful and costly gifts from friends of the family and those who have been and are now prominent in the public life of the country.

LACK OF WORK IS REFLECTED

Wage Earners Have Exhausted Money and Appeal for Aid.

PLENTY OF CALLS TO BE CARED FOR

Situation Well in Hand and People Generally Are Helping.

FROM MAYOR GRICE.

To the Public: Fort Wayne was visited last week by one of the most serious disasters in the history of the city. That the situation did not become more disastrous was due very much to the splendid service and co-operation of the public generally. Fort Wayne has always been noted for its civic patriotism and hospitality. That it lived up to its reputation during the hour of her trouble was attested to most emphatically by every impartial observer. While I know the citizens do not expect to be thanked for the performance of their duty, still I do not think the occasion should be passed by without some mention of the appreciation I feel toward those who gave help, and I wish to state through the columns of your paper that I feel very grateful to the citizens, churches, fraternal bodies, charitable organizations and our neighbors and friends abroad who came to us in our time of trouble with money, provisions, sympathy and help.

Sincerely yours,
JESSE GRICE,
Mayor.

Howell C. Rockhill, of the Fort Wayne Rolling Mills company, stated today that there has been a loss in wages by reason of the flood of not less than $100,000 in this city and this was reflected in the calls for relief at the headquarters in the Lincoln Life building.

Aid was sought by men who are constantly employed and who earn good wages but the funds they had on hand when the high water deprived them of their incomes have been exhausted and credit has been hard to obtain on account of the uncertainty of resumption.

He retired from the active management of the telephone company at South Bend two years ago because of his illness.

RED CROSS HEAD IS COMING SOON

E. P. Bicknell Will Assist in Flood Relief Work in Indiana.

RALSTON SENDS AID

Indianapolis, Ind., April 4.—Ernest P. Bicknell, director of the American Red Cross, will come to Indiana within a few days to assist in the flood relief work, according to a telegram received today by Gov. Ralston from Miss Mabel Boardman, chairman of the board of directors. He will be placed in charge of the Red Cross work in the state and will come here from the Ohio flood district.

The governor has sent out several carloads of provisions and about $15,000 in relief funds over the state. Five thousand dollars have been sent to Logansport and another $5,000 to Peru. An additional $500 was sent to Brookville and $2,500 and a carload of provisions, including 80 tents, was shipped to Shoals.

At the request of State Treasurer W. H. Vollmer, a carload of provisions was sent to Decker. State Auditor W. H. O'Brien, whose home was wrecked by the flood at Lawrenceburg, and to whom a load of provisions had been sent, wired the governor today that Lawrenceburg needed money, as many of the homes destroyed belonged to the poorer class.

A committee from West Indianapolis appeared before the park board today to demand that a sea wall and boulevard be built on the west side of White river to protect them from a recurrence of the flood. The city engineer's office today issued a statement declaring that all other engineering work in the city had been abandoned, and that all of the men in the department had been put at work rebuilding the levees.

Mayor Shank led a large squad of workmen to the west side today to help clean up the houses. The men are working without pay.

KNEW BROTHER BY HIS EARS.

Martin Teets, Gone for 29 Years, Recognizes George by a Nick.

Orange, April 4.—George Teets, an architect, who lives at 21 Ely place, was taken aback when a stranger walked up to him on the street, grasped his hand and without speaking looked him over, up and down, front and back and both sides. Said the stranger at length:

"I'd know you by your ears."

Teets was about to call a policeman when the man continued:

"Don't you know your brother Martin, George? I'm fresh from Nebraska."

The two parted twenty-nine years ago when Martin Teets left for the west. George Teets had begun to think his brother dead.

Martin Teets said there was a little nick on the left ear of his brother which he gave him in one of their boyish fights.

DOUBLES IN TEN YEARS.

Buenos Ayres Grows More Rapidly Than Any City Except Chicago.

Washington, April 3.—The great southern metropolis of Buenos Ayres has been growing in population with marvelous rapidity, surpassing in that respect every other great city in the world except Chicago, according to census statistics just received by the state department from the Argentine capital. On January 31 last the city had a population of 1,434,830. In 1869 the population was 177,767 and ten years ago it was 783,220, so that the city has nearly doubled in a decade.

City of London ratepayers are to provide £148,124 for the city police force for the year ending March, 1914.

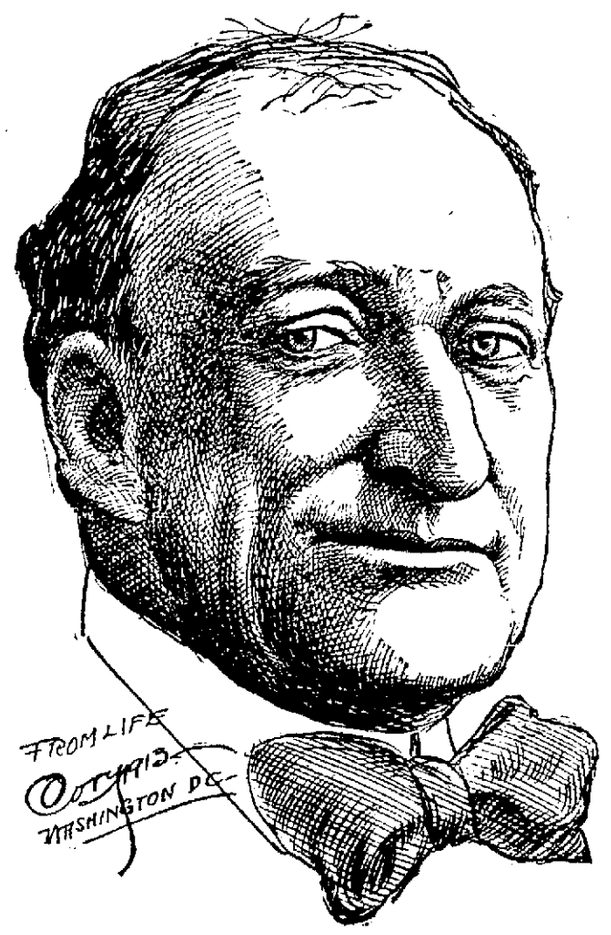
WHO'S WHO IN WILSON'S CABINET.

JAMES CLARK M'REYNOLDS.



HE HAS BEEN A BACHELOR FOR ALL OF HIS 51 YEARS.

BY J. CAMPBELL CORY.

When President Woodrow Wilson picked out James Clark McReynolds for his attorney general, he must have recognized a kindred spirit. The official family of the president, including himself, make up ten men. McReynolds' arrival reduced the sum total of communicativeness in that body by just 10 per cent. As a publicity promoter J. C. could not earn enough salt for seasoning. An outburst of confidence, as displayed by the new attorney general, would remind you of an intimate exchange of views between the Sphinx and an oyster. As an impetuous conversationalist, McReynolds simply can't qualify.

There is a man in the department of justice who has been intimately associated with the heads of that department for at least twenty years. He has known McReynolds from the days when the latter was an assistant attorney general. "You can always count on Mac for getting to the bottom of a proposition," he said, "but you never can tell how he gets there. How can you when he won't?"

"The best way to get a line on the attorney general," remarked one of the younger trust-busters of the department who has some sporting proclivities, "is to take the dope of past performance. He always has run true to form, and it's more than an even bet that he hasn't gone stale." And the past performance record of McReynolds would put him on the scratch in a handicap.

He began his record soon after he left his little home town of Elkton, Ky., in the late seventies, for Vanderbilt university. Mr. Reynolds senior was a pretty well-to-do citizen, and Jim was not forced to curtail his expenses on account of any ailment of the family exchequer. But "Mac," as they called him then, took all the cash scholarship prizes that had been provided by the rich after-the-war Southrons. As a result, young McReynolds didn't have to write home for money. His scholastic earnings took him through college.

McReynolds wasn't in the public eye to any great extent from the time he finished his law course at the University of Virginia until he became assistant attorney general in 1903. The interval was spent in accumulating bread and butter, with enough to buy a little jam on the side, in his law offices at Nashville, Tenn. He held down his desk as assistant in the department of which he is now chief for four years, when he received a call that took him to New York and landed him in a luxurious office of the suite occupied by one of the biggest legal firms in the metropolis.

What the government thought of McReynolds is shown by the fact that he wasn't permitted to remain in opulent privacy more than a couple of months. So back to the department he came as a special assistant and proceeded to make another record, this time in conducting the famous tobacco trust cases. McReynolds also made a collection of feathers for his cap and spurs for his heels in chaperoning the prosecution of the coal-carrying roads and in taking care of the government's end of the Chinese exclusion case.

McReynolds is strong for the old Kentucky home business. He has been a bachelor for all of his 51 years, and never yet has seen a woman who could compare with his mother. He never loses an opportunity to slip back to quiet little Elkton and spend a few days with her.

What sort of trust-busting campaign McReynolds is now planning is known to McReynolds. So, don't ask the attorney general what he is going to do. You'll discover a sudden reduction in the total of caloric units in the adjacent atmosphere. And in spite of the title of his office, don't call him "General." It peeves him exceeding much.

NOT ONE REPORT OF ROBBED HOME

Many Houses Left Open and None Has Been Entered by Thieves.

GOOD POLICE WORK

Dayton F. Abbott, chief of the police department, stated today that although the many homes in the flooded districts have been left open that there has not been reported a single case of looting.

Particular attention was given to the protection of homes from the first minute that the waters rushed in and how well the officers and the men of the department, the soldiers and the volunteers have done their work is shown by the fact that so far as known today nothing had been stolen.

For three or four days residents driven out by the water have been busy in their dwellings and time enough has elapsed to discover thefts if any had been committed.

After the deluged homes were once entered it was impossible, as a general rule, to lock the outside doors. They had become so swollen by the water that many of them were pried open and badly damaged in the process, and in the face of conditions like these there were no thefts.

Every stranger picked up on the streets was held at police headquarters during the nights and many of them were sent to the city court. The citizens generally took a hand in the work of protection, but with all this it is remarkable that there was not some looting of the unprotected houses.

CHURCH POLITICS RAGES AT TIPTON

Committees Outnumber the Ministers at North Indiana M. E. Conference.

LAYMEN VERY ACTIVE

Tipton, Ind., April 4.—Church politics flourished at today's session of the North Indiana Methodist Episcopal conference meeting here. There are more committees askmi the appointment of certain preachers for their home towns in the conference than there are ministers attending the conference. Every conceivable plan, it is said, is being used by the committees to get the preacher wanted appointed to their home church.

Talk around the Kemp church, where the conference sessions are being held, today was that sentiment largely was responsible for the defeat of the merger of the north and northwest Indiana conferences. The defeat of the consolidation planned caused little surprise here.

The Preachers' Aid society and the Woman's Home Mission society held their anniversary meetings today.

Cissel Allowed to Resign.

Rev. C. C. Cissell, of Kokomo, who was charged with immoral conduct while attending the general conference at Minneapolis last May, was allowed to resign from the ministry and from the church under complaint at today's session of the conference by Bishop McDowell. This was a softening of the order of expulsion. Rev. M. S. Marble, superintendent of the Logansport district, brought up the question of charges against Cissell and with misty eyes and in a choking voice told of the minister's disgrace. Bishop McDowell prayed for the deposed minister and when he had concluded there was hardly a dry eye in the congregation.

President Grose, of Depauw, and President Vayhinger, of Taylor universities, who are members of the Northwest Indiana conference, were invited to join the North conference. The resignation of Rev. J. H. Dunkle was accepted. His last charge was at Kannard, in the Richmond district.

The following officers were elected by the Preachers' Aid society: President, L. J. Naftseger; vice president, R. H. Hollopeter; secretary, C. U. Wade, and treasurer, J. W. Mecks.

Will Go to Mishawaka.

The next session of the North Indiana Methodist conference will be held at Mishawaka. No other city has asked for it and it will go by consent.

Bishop McDowell made a significant reference in his opening address on the "story of the temptation" and many of the ministers caught the meaning at once, as one of the leading ministers of the conference, a district superintendent, had a successor during this conference year.

Dr. George Richmond Grose, president of DePauw university, leads the devotional services each evening at 4 o'clock and the church is filled with people of all denominations. Tipton is preparing to entertain 1,000 additional visitors for the sessions of the conference next Sunday.

Preachers' Aid Society Report.

The report of C. U. Wade, secretary of the Preachers' Aid society of the conference, shows that the permanent endowment fund this year is $86,544.60, an increase over last year of $1,921.42. Money lent on personal property, $300; money loaned on notes and mortgages, $38,312; cash in the hands of the treasurer, $3,706.60; value of real estate owned by the society, $16,525; notes in the hands of general secretary, $10,008; due from the Blount estate, $500; subscriptions in the general secretary's hands, $3,171; after-death bonds, $13,950.

It was a pathetic scene when Rev. Jesse Bowman Young, of Bluffton, was placed on the superannuated list after forty-five years' pastoral work. Mr. Young when sixteen years old, was a soldier in the civil war, and on motion of P. J. Albright, it was agreed that the veterans in the conference give Mr. Young a soldier's welcome. Twenty veterans formed a circle about him and shook his hands while the conference sang "America." Many people in the great audience gave way to tears, and Bishop McDowell was so overcome with emotion that it was several minutes before he could proceed with the business of the session.

Against Church Closing.

The suburban churches of Anderson recently held a special revival and the Rev. Charles E. Line, superintendent of the Muncie district, reported many conversions. At the present time a great revival is being held at Anderson, an evangelist named Oliver conducting it. In his report of the year's work in the Muncie district Mr. Line has this to say in regard to the revival at Anderson:

"I protest earnestly and emphatically against a plan which compels the churches to surrender both Sunday morning and evening services for seven or eight Sundays. The strong churches may not suffer much, but the suburban church will lose ground which they may never recover, and if recovered at all it will be by hard work and sacrifices. The suburban churches must be taken care of, for they are doing a work which can not and will not be done by the down town church. The members of these smaller churches sacrifice much to support their ministers. The interests of these small churches must be looked after. Hence, any evangelistic campaign which will injure the weaker churches must be discouraged. May God hasten the day when the evangelistic spirit and passion for souls will return to the pulpit and pew, so that every pastor will become an evangelist." Mr. Line's words were received with a chorus of hearty amens.

WOMEN TO STUDY TARIFF.

Democratic League at Washington Will Open Classes.

Washington, April 4.—Determined to prove to congress that they are capable of grasping the intricacies of the tariff, members of the local section of the Womans' National Democratic league tonight will open tariff study classes at their headquarters. More than 125 women already have signified their intention to struggle with the mass of figures and data that have caused more than a few gray hairs to appear on the heads of weary and overworked members of the house ways and means committee.

"And we won't confine ourselves to millinery, furs, furbelows, or feathers, either," said Miss Annette B. Paul, who will instruct the class.

Many wives and daughters of senators and representatives in congress are members of the league. The women will augment their class work by frequent trips to the capital to enliven the tariff debates.

SOBS OUT STORY OF WRECKED HOME

Prof. Oscar Olson Tells of Slaying Laudryman at St. Paul.

MANY WEEP WITH HIM

St. Paul, Minn., April 4.—Prof. Oscar Olson, formerly of the University of Minnesota, who admitted that he shot and killed Clyde N. Darling, a laundryman, for wrecking his home, took the witness stand last evening and sobbed audibly as the relations between Mrs. Olson and Darling were wrung from him.

The court room was crowded to overflowing and many wept with the defendant, who presented the picture of a broken spirited man. Mrs. Olson buried her face in her hands and wept softly throughout her husband's testimony.

"My wife confessed to me that there had been illicit relations between herself and Darling many times and I warned him to keep away from my home," Olson testified. "He continued to come, despite the warning, and finally succeeded in tearing down the happiness of the home.

"The night of the shooting I was alone," continued the witness. "I heard a noise and went to the kitchen to investigate. I saw a man standing inside the door, and I recognized Darling.

"'Oh, it's you, d— you,' he said, and took a step toward me. I had my revolver and fired twice in rapid succession. A second later I saw the wrecker of my home throw his arms into the air and fall limply to the floor."

Prof. Olson testified that he first learned of Mrs. Olson's relations with Darling June 16 last.

"When I returned from my office, my wife told me Darling had hugged and kissed her," Olson continued. "I saw Darling one day later in the presence of the man for whom he was working. When I accused him of insulting my wife he turned pale. Then he recovered himself and said: 'I admit it; it's all my fault.'

"While in Clearbrook, Minn., November 12 last, I receive a message from my wife urging me to return home immediately. She met me at the door and said: 'Oscar, do I look demented? That devilish laundryman is haunting me again. He has been here several times and I can't resist his overtures. Please help me to keep him from me.'"

Olson repeated the details leading to the crime. Several times during his testimony his sobbing forced an interruption. Mrs. Olson is expected to tell her story today.

BIDS UNDER ADVISEMENT.

Board of Works Will Consider Them in a Short Time.

Members of the board of public works took under advisement last night bids submitted by the Moellering and Brooks Construction companies on the city's portion of the work for separation of the grades at Harrison street and Taylor street and Thomas avenue.

Resolutions were confirmed for the extension of the ornamental lighting system to the following streets: Clinton street, Columbia to Jefferson; Harrison street, Columbia to Jefferson; Columbia street, Harrison to Clay; Main street, Maiden Lane to Broadway; Calhoun street, Grand to Creighton.

Forty-five property owners on St. Mary's avenue asked that the street be paved for a width of forty feet. A delegation said there were more who want it thirty feet and time was granted to get a petition. Plans for widening the avenue from Breck to Burgess street were ordered.

Plats of Parnell place addition, north of State street and east of St. Joseph's river and Pennsylvania place addition, southeast of the city and east of Pontiac place addition, were approved.

OFFERS HOME TO BABE.

Country Wife Would Adopt Motherless Youngster.

Yearning for a little child upon which she can lavish an exuberance of stifled mother love, Mrs. Ira Meyers, the wife of a farmer living on rural route No. 12, has written to Dr. K. L. Seaman of this city, asking if he knows of any motherless babe—a child that perhaps has lost its home and parents in the flood.

Mrs. Meyers wants a little girl from six months to two years old, and would adopt the youngster as her own. She promises a good home on the farm close to nature, and an abundance of loving affection.

Although it is plain in the letter that the woman lacks high education, it is also plainer that she possesses the yearnings of a woman's heart for children, and she wants a baby that she can call her own. She writes that she will come to Fort Wayne for the child, and can give the names of business men as references.

VOICE FROM GRAVE CRIES TO A COURT

Effort to Expunge Record in Heinze Divorce Proceedings.

WIFE'S DYING WISH

New York, April 4.—The court that parted F. Augustus Heinze, the copper king, and his wife, Bernice, will be besought to restore her to him in death. It was Mrs. Heinze's dying wish that this be done for the sake of her child. Her lawyer, Benjamin F. Spellman, began preparation of a remarkable petition yesterday, a few hours after his client's death, to expunge the record of the interlocutory decree already granted.

"I have always loved you, Fritz. I have always hoped something would happen to bring you back to me," the dying woman's words of reconciliation with her husband; the death bed scene; her tears and embraces; his assurances of love; his promise to try to fulfill her last wish—all these will be written into the jurisprudence of the state, together with the testimony under oath of Mrs. Heinze's mother, her sister and the nurses who stood by.

Never before has the supreme court of New York been petitioned to expunge the record of a divorce by a voice from the grave.

"Had she lived it would have been possible for Mrs Heinze to discontinue this action," Mr. Spellman said today. "Because of her love for Heinze and her hope that something would bring about a reconciliation, she postponed taking the final decree, which might have been entered last month. She had only until April 17 to decide whether the decree would be taken. Again and again she told me: 'Wait, wait; that decree means death between my husband and me. To take it would tear my soul from its body.'

"During the last moments of her life she repeated over and over again the request that the record be expunged. I am convinced that there must be some method for the great chancellor to reach out and destroy or seal those records."

Mrs. Heinze's body was sent today to Toledo, Ohio, for burial.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

FOR THE BENEFIT OF RESORTERS.

Must Keep Speed of Motor Boats Down to Ten Miles an Hour.

A copy of a law regulating the speed of motor boats, and also a clause which makes failure to keep the muffler closed a misdemeanor has been received by Attorney James B. Harper from Secretary of State Lew G. Ellingham. Any boat using an engine must not be operated at a greater speed than ten miles an hour between the time of sunset and sunrise. The new law also requires that motor boats be equipped with a modern and improved muffler and shall be kept and remained closed at all times when the engine is in operation. Upon conviction for violation of the sections of the law the fine provided is not less than $1 or more than $100, to which may be added a term in the county jail or workhouse not to exceed one month.

Pettit's Storage Warehouse instead of increasing their rates, as rumored, have reduced them one-third to all flood sufferers. 3-26-tf.

Facing the Larger Task

With the stress of immediate necessity for food and clothing for thousands of flood sufferers to a large degree relieved, it is beginning to be apparent that Indiana's real work of relief is yet to be performed. Appeals from many sections are pouring into Governor Ralston's office daily. Stricken communities, stunned by the immensity of the losses they have suffered as lowering floods have made the extent of the damage more apparent, are laying before the state executive the true conditions in the hope that help may be forthcoming from some source to give aid in the rehabilitation of ruined homes and heart to the effort to make a new start by men and women who must take up late in life a task that did not daunt them in earlier years. Generous as have been the contributions from every source, it is quite apparent that they must be a pitifully small total as an offset to the complete enormity of the damage suffered.

The work of relief is not going to be the task of a passing day. The generosity that springs in the moment of necessity and subsides with the waning of the momentary enthusiasm which prompted it, is quite unequal to the real relief demanded by a situation of need, the true extent of which has not yet been adequately pictured. The blow has been a paralizing one in many sections. Some of the sufferers will be able to recoup their losses without serious privation. In countless other cases, where confession of dire need is made reluctantly, the outlook is gloomy enough to stagger the stoutest heart. Governor Ralston is apparently exerting every possible effort to relieve the unfortunate, but the need is so great that any possible measure of public generosity is likely to be pitifully inadequate to meet the real needs of the situation, as it is being disclosed within the past few days.

Almost without exception Fort Wayne business institutions have come forward handsomely in the work of flood relief, giving freely of cash and merchandise and extending accommodation liberally to those in the stress of temporary need. This is a fact of which especial note should be taken by those who are occasionally persuaded to make purchases abroad by mail order and otherwise when local merchants are able to serve them far more satisfactorily. If further argument were needed for patronizing home institutions, the Fort Wayne merchants have certainly supplied it during the flood emergency.

The fact that he will be able to later work it into his vaudeville "press stuff" with fine effects, does not necessarily discount the performance of Mayor Shank as the propelling power of a hoe leading the vanguard of the flood clean-up army on the streets of Indianapolis. The mayor is entitled to credit for his discovery of a new field of executive usefulness in emergency.

Despite the opinion credited to Mr. Leighton, chief hydrographer at Washington, to the effect that no human agency could have averted the loss of life and damage by the recent floods in Ohio and Indiana, the people residing in those districts are going to insist upon an excellent job of trying to forestall a possible repetition of the disasters.

It really begins to seem that after all there's going to be enough ginger in the city campaign this year to invest the contest with sufficient excitement to satisfy everybody.

THE RETIRING DISTRICT ATTORNEY.

(Indianapolis News.)

Charles W. Miller, whose term as United States attorney for this district has just expired, made for himself during the four years he was in office an excellent record. Mr. Miller was appointed on April 1, 1909. He has had under his management some very important cases, the most notable of which was the dynamite conspiracy. In this case Mr. Miller particularly distinguished himself. In other cases that have, from time to time, come to his attention, he has applied the same energy and forethought which characterized his prosecution of members of the International Association of Bridge and Iron Workers.

The dynamite trial alone would have been sufficient to command the attention of a lawyer not otherwise officially engaged. It is all the more to the credit of Mr. Miller, therefore, that he prepared the case and that he presented it to the court clearly, plainly and logically. He had valuable assistance, of course, but he was in command. The retiring district attorney, during the strenuous and sometimes bitter days of the dynamite trial in Judge Anderson's court, did not lay himself open to criticism for unfairness. He prepared the government's argument forcefully, but without animosity or rancor.

Some idea of the amount of work necessary to handle the case may be had in the knowledge that a statement of 7,500 typewritten pages will go to the court of appeals from the defense. All these data have been gone over by Mr. Miller. This part of the trial, voluminous as it may appear, still is only a fraction of the whole. Mr. Miller now retires from the office. He knows the case as no other lawyer could know it unless equal time and application were spent on it. He is in a position still to be of great service to the federal government, for the dynamite trials are by no means ended. Here it might not be amiss to note that in a private lawsuit of similar magnitude it is unlikely that the lawyer who had prepared the prosecution would be dismissed. Mr. Miller ought to be continued in service as special attorney for the government in the dynamite cases.

INEVITABLE ELEMENTS AND NEEDLESS DISASTER.

(Kansas City Star.)

A Washington official of the geological survey says that floods like those recent ones in Ohio and Indiana are inevitable. He is quoted as saying also that the devastation produced by them is inevitable.

The first statement may be accepted. As far as science has gone, at least, it holds no promise of averting unusual rains, any more than of preventing tornadoes and earthquakes.

But that widespread catastrophe from such phenomena is inevitable is not to be accepted.

Galveston presents a case in point. That city assumes the recurrence of tidal storms. It expects even to be partly flooded at times by the sea. But it has built a seawall to break the destructive forces of the waves. It has raised the surface of the city's principal area. It has compelled the stronger construction of houses. It has built a great causeway, or viaduct, between the island on which the city is built and the mainland, thus insuring the entrance of railroad trains, no matter what invasion by the sea there may be, and thus providing means of escape by the people if the improbable need of escape arises.

The rebuilding of San Francisco has proceeded with no expectation of preventing earthquakes; but it has accorded with a confident assurance that the better construction of buildings will resist earthquake shocks and avoid the yet more destructive consequence of fire.

Expert examination of houses collapsed and of houses left standing in the path of the Omaha tornadoes has shown that disaster is not a necessary accompaniment of such winds.

One cannot presume to say in what ways the very bad effects of high waters throughout a wide area can be left behind by civilization. But that civilization can do this is hardly to be doubted.

PRESS COMMENT ON LEWIS, OF ILLINOIS.

"Unusual Interest."

Wilmington Every Evening: "With unusual interest the country will await the entrance into the senate chamber at Washington, as a full fledged member, of James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois."

"Born in Virginia."

Richmond Virginian: "Jim Ham' Lewis was born in Danville, Va. As soon as a man becomes noted they always trace his ancestry back to Virginia, although North Carolina usually puts in a claim."

"Country Safe."

Knoxville Sentinel: "With 'Jim Ham' Lewis elected and installed as senator from the Sucker state, all solicitude for the safety of the country is dissipated."

"Ratified Popular Choice."

Pittsburg Dispatch: "The Illinois legislature finally ratified the popular choice in the senatorial primaries, but evidently, from the prolonged deadlock, not because it wished to obey the popular wish."

"Satisfaction."

Houston Post: "It would require a great deal of space to express the satisfaction we enjoy in the reflection that the James Hamilton Lewis whiskers have been safely anchored in the United States senate."

"A Rainbow."

Detroit Tribune: "Colonel Lewis, to mention but a meagre few of his qualifications, is a traveler, author, delegate, lawyer, politician, diplomat, soldier and arbiter elegantorium. He is universal; he is cosmopolitan; he's a rainbow."

"Brains," Etc.

Montgomery Advertiser: "Hail, 'Jim Ham,' the whisker man of Illinois! Democracy should be glad. Lewis has brains, character, courage and even eloquence."

COAL EXHAUSTION PREDICTIONS.

(Pittsburg Dispatch.)

Every now and then some one comes forward with a doleful prediction about the exhaustion of our coal and setting a not very distant limit on the supply. It is therefore with relief that it is learned, on the authority of one William Griffith, mining engineer, geologist and described as an expert employed by the federal bureau of mines, testifying under oath in the Alaska coal lands conspiracy case at Chicago, that it will take 5,000 years to exhaust the coal reserve of the United States. He estimates that there is still under ground in the United States about 500,000,000,000 tons, and that the yearly average consumption is 400,000,000 tons, and that we have only consumed four-tenths of one per cent of the total supply. Those who are in need of coal 5,000 years hence, moreover, he added, need not shiver in zero weather, because there will be still available some 1,500,000,000,000 tons in Alaska.

Of course, just because Mr. Griffith says so does not necessarily mean that he is not mistaken a few billion tons one way or the other, but his testimony is at least interesting and decidedly more comforting than that of the pessimists who have been promising a coal famine in the next few hundred years. His guess may be just as good as theirs.

PAYS HONOR TO MORGAN MEMORY

New York Stock Exchange Holds a Memorial Meeting.

SENATOR ROOT TALKS

New York, April 4.—The New York Chamber of Commerce, of which J. P. Morgan was for fifty years a member and for four terms its vice president, held a memorial meeting yesterday in his honor.

The chamber adopted a resolution placing upon its records "sentiments of deep reverence for the memory of John Pierpont Morgan, man of character," and "its enduring appreciation of the dominant force for good which he wielded through a long life of masterful endeavor and far reaching accomplishment."

Senator Root displayed evidences of deep emotion as he delivered his eulogy at the Chamber of Commerce.

"Mr. Morgan's life," he said, "is still so near us that the idea that he whom we met here is to be here no more is hard to realize. Nevertheless, we can already vaguely see his great career and vigorous personality, as a whole.

"His was the most commanding and controlling figure in this country. He was the greatest of bankers and the greatest organizer of production. No title marked him for leadership. No office was created for his presumption of greatness. He had none of the arts of popularity and little aptitude for self-expression.

"He had the quality of quick decision. Opportunity never knocked in vain at his door. He had high courage and inflexible resolution. Take him all in all he was a man, a great man, whose qualities amounted to genius. So he became a great leader in great affairs, and his name became a guaranty of soundness and good faith and success. He played no game of chance. He took from no man. He acquired a great fortune by making the prosperity of many and by taking his fair and just share of that prosperity."

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

MILL ACCIDENT WILL PROVE FATAL

Henry Ayers, an Employe, Impaled on Big Saw Near Antwerp and Frightfully Injured.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Antwerp, O., April 4.—Henry Ayers, an employe of the Rupert mill, north of here, met with an accident yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the mill that will undoubtedly end in his death, his injuries being such that it is thought he cannot recover.

While at work in the mill he was thrown in some way on to the big saw and when his cries brought assistance he was found impaled on it. The saw caught him in such a manner that it cut into his lung, across and downward. Doctors Murphy and Hackedorn were at once called and did everything in their power to save his life, but it was thought that their efforts would be in vain.

Mr. Ayers is 20 years of age and married, residing on the Joseph Dunderman farm. He was alone when the accident happened, at work in the upper part of the mill where the big saw was running, and it is only conjecture as to just how the accident happened. The machinery was being stopped when his cries were heard. His cry, "For God's sake come and take me off this saw," caused the hands at the mill to go to his relief.

CUTS OFF WATER SUPPLY.

Stump-Blasting Accident Has Serious Result at Richmond.

Richmond, Ind., April 4.—Richmond's water supply was cut off late yesterday when a charge of dynamite used to blow up a stump in a field near the railroad shops tore up a section of the water main which runs into the city from the pumping station, three miles northeast of Richmond.

Alfred Underhill, on whose property the explosion occurred, said a man he had sent to blast stumps in a field he was clearing was ignorant of the fact that the main passed through the field and exploded a charge under a stump within a few feet of the pipe. After the explosion Underhill telephoned a warning to the railroad officers and the water works office then drove into the city and spread the news.

ZurMuehlen—Smith.

The wedding of Miss Mabel G. Smith and Mr. Herbert J. ZurMuehlen took place on Thursday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Smith, of 2852 Broadway, at 7:45 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Samuel Wagenhals and relatives and friends to the number of seventy-five were present. The marriage service was impressive. Miss Gwenn Saylor played the wedding music. The bride was unattended, but Mr. ZurMuehlen had Mr. Hedley Link as groomsman. The marriage service was read in the living room, where one corner was arranged in a bower effect with garlands of smilax and a grouping of palms. The bride entered the room with her father. She presented a charming appearance in a wedding gown of ivory duchess satin made in evening style with pointed train and neck and sleeves cut out a little. The bodice was trimmed with Venise point lace and a long veil of tulle was fashioned into a cap of princess lace and held with a spray of real orange blossoms. The bridal bouquet was of bride roses tied with a shower of ribbon and buds. The house presented an extremely pretty appearance with smilax entwining the doorways and electrobiers and an abundance of pink Killarney roses in vases and bowls in all the rooms except the one in which the marriage service was read. There the colors were confined to white and green. After the marriage service the guests offered their congratulations, which were hearty and sincere, as both bride and groom are very highly regarded and much admired. Mrs. Louise ZurMuehlen, the groom's mother, stood with the bride's parents and assisted in receiving the guests. The wedding supper was served in the dining room and a number of the bride's girl friends assisted during the time. They were Miss Irma Henderson, Miss Fannie Matson, Miss Laura Pohler and Miss Anna Heyman. Later in the evening the bride and groom left for Chicago to spend their honeymoon. For traveling the bride wore a plain tailored costume of blue whipcord, a coat and skirt of King's blue coloring and a blouse of blue silk crepe made over white. Her hat was a stylish, but plain hemp of blue to correspond to her suit and its trimming was a simple arrangement of silk of Bulgarian pattern. On their return home Mr. and Mrs. ZurMuehlen will go to housekeeping at 114 Washington boulevard east, with the bridegroom's mother. Mr. ZurMuehlen has purchased the Auger florist shop and is conducting the business with much success. The bride is very capable in housekeeping and in other housewifely ways and is a great favorite socially.

AT THE TEMPLE

Jimmy Lucas and Frances Fields are doing a clever vaudeville stunt at the Temple this week and are making new admirers at every performance. Next week John W. Dunne will present Sam Chip and Mary Marble in the picture book playlet "The Land of Dykes." This is probably one of the best offerings in vaudeville, for these talented stars are a feature on every bill and the last time they were seen in Fort Wayne at the Majestic the top prices were asked and they are well worth it. The Temple, however, announces no advance in prices on next week's bill which also includes the Six Nathaniel Brothers, Howard Brothers, flying banjos; Frawley and Hunt, comedy bar act, and others. Mr. Stouder in his judgment announces this bill the best of the season.

Detective Burns, Gaiety today and tomorrow.

AT THE EMPRESS

The new show coming to the Empress will have for its headliner John P. Hymer's sure comic creation, called "The Passenger Wreck." Here is positively the most stupendous production in vaudeville and presented by a cast of seven people, it furnishes one of the most surprising acts imaginable. It is melodramatic to a degree but there are so many laughable climaxes that this feature is overlooked. The scenic equipment is wonderfully realistic. Other features of the new bill are the Three Bennett Sisters, the original athletic girls, in boxing, wrestling and fencing stunts. The Palace Quartet will offer an interesting program of harmony singing. Joe Birnes will tell in his own inimitable way of a party he attended and John White's comedy circus with his high school mules will furnish the biggest laughing hit in months. White but recently completed a tour of the Sullivan & Considine houses and he is being welcomed back immediately.

The current bill, which closes Saturday night is a good one, having the Exposition Four, Marcon, Shadowgraphs, Booth Trio, bicyclists;; Lightner and Jordan, singing comediennes and "The Trainer," a playlet of the race track. New pictures are also being shown.

"MADE IN AMERICA" FASHIONS TO BE WORN BY AMERICAN WOMEN.

A great deal has been said in the newspapers and magazines about American fashions for Americans, and truly we are now making some very good looking gowns from American designs.

The ones shown today were made by Mme. Ripley of Chicago, who is the president of the largest dressmaking association in the United States. These frocks were shown at the recent spring conference of the association.

The woman in the dark gown is Mme. Ripley herself in a "futurist" dress of terra cotta and green changeable silk with green tulips brocaded over it. The belt and sash are of green satin. Over the shoulders is a cape of shadow lace with a turn over collar of black velvet, one side of which is longer than the other. This kind of a bodice is particularly fine for a woman who is inclined to be stout, as is Mme. Ripley.

The white evening coat is also a "futurist" design of Mme. Ripley and is of of white satin stenciled in red and green tulips. It has broad reveres and cuffs of black satin.

These gowns are for American women and have all the style of those sent us from Paris.

Don't you think so?

AT THE JEFFERSON

"Sapho" in three reels remains the current attraction at the Jefferson with "Letters to Mother" added and The Longleys entertainers. Thursday night hundreds were turned away, so come early and avoid the crowds; an extra show was necessary. Saturday the feature is a story of circus life entitled "The Clown's Revenge" in two reels. This is one of the most thrilling pictures ever made; the star thrill is the bicycle rider's dash to death; there are performing horses and animals. Coming next week, Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress, in four reels.

Beginners' Dancing Class for Adults forms Monday, 7:30 p. m. Trier's, Minuet. 3-4t

AT THE LYRIC.

The Lyric is presenting today "The Sinews of War," a two-reel Bronco feature of the war, with much clearness and filled with intense, dramatic scenes. Impersonations of General Robert E. Lee and General U. S. Grant are given and are very life like. The battle scenes are very effectively done and the burning of the warehouse is a strong feature. A love story blends nicely with the various incidents and the entire production is a meritorious one. Tomorrow, the Omaha cyclone pictures will be exhibited.

ELKS' BENEFIT IS BIG SUCCESS

Over $1,000 Raised at Entertainments for Flood Relief Fund.

ALL WAS DONATED

Large audiences attended the benefit concerts given at the Majestic theater yesterday for the purpose of raising further funds for the Relief Flood association. Everything about the performance was donated and the Fort Wayne lodge, No. 155, B. P. O. E., had the entertainment in charge. Over a thousand dollars was ready to turn over to the relief fund last night and more is expected when tickets that are out and unaccounted for are reported. Miss Louise Dunbar had the sale of programs on hand and realized $18 in that way. The Elks, with the Nobles of the Mizpah Shrine, have done more for the aid of flood sufferers than any other organizations of the city.

They acknowledge indebtedness for assistance in the concerts yesterday to Manager M. E. Rice, of the Majestic theater, the Northern Indiana Traction company for lighting the theater and the stage hands of the same theater for services; Cleary and Bailey for printing tickets and window cards; the People's store for Elk head and flag used in stage setting; the Fort Wayne Printing company for printing programs; the Packard Piano company for use of piano on the stage; Manager F. E. Stouder, of the Temple, and Manager Crull, of the Epress theater, for artists from their weekly bills of entertainment; the several musicians of the city who furnished the music, including the Elks' band, and Miss Mennewish and others who gave a dramatic act; the young women and all others who assisted in selling tickets to the concert; the Fort Wayne Outfitters company for properties; the Journal-Gazette for linotype composition of programs, the Motor Transfer company for use of taxicab and all the newspapers of the city for advertising the concert.

As for the program of entertainments, the enthusiasm of the audience showed how successful they were. The Elks' band played in excellent style at both afternoon and evening performances. Local people assisting were B. J. Krull and Ray Shreve, who sang with accompaniment of the band; Miss Edith Nickell, Mrs. William Cleary and Messrs. C. R. Willson and D. F. Urbahns, who gave a song cycle entitled, "The Daisy Chain." Mrs. Ferd Urbahns furnished the piano accompaniment, which was a distinctly beautiful part of the number.

The other local number was a comedy skit called "His Suspicious Pals," which was well acted by Miss May Mennewish and Val Ewig in the principal roles, and they were assisted by Jim Carroll, Harry Camp, Bob Blake, Adolph Weickman, George Yergens and Edward Crauston.

Performers from the vaudeville theaters were Lucas and Fields and Snyder and Buckley, from the Temple, and The Exposition Four and Lightner and Jordan from the Empress.

Apollo Club to Give "The Cross of Fire."

The Apollo club will close its seventh season on Friday evening, April 11, at the Majestic theater in the rendition of Max Bruch's great dramatic choral work, "The Cross of Fire." For the first time in its history the male chorus will be augmented by fifty female voices and as no pretentious choral work has been attempted in Fort Wayne for several years, the concert promises to be of unusual interest and importance. "The Cross of Fire" is founded on one of Sir Walter Scott's poems and tells a connected story of the Scotch border warfare.

The musical setting constitutes Bruch's masterpiece, and is full of melody, varied in treatment and tremendous in the chorus efforts.

The club has spared no expense in providing soloists worthy of the occasion and the solo character parts will be sung by Miss Florence Hinkle, soprano, Reinald Werrenrath, baritone, both of New York City, and D. Ferd Urbahns of this city.

A miscellaneous program by chorus and soloists will precede the work of the evening.

The above group of photographs of some of the Fort Wayne bridges at the time of the highest stage of the flood, is given to illustrate the accompanying article by Mr. McCulloch.

THE FLOOD PROBLEM.

This is the second of a series of articles from engineers and laymen dealing with a solution of the problem of future flood prevention. The Sentinel desires to present the matter in its many-sided phases, in order that there may be as full an understanding as possible, but does not, necessarily endorse the various solutions of the difficulty which may be presented by its contributors. Such diagrams and illustrations as will accompany these articles are prepared under the direction of the writer of the contribution.

An illustrated article by Henry M. Williams, will appear tomorrow.

By HON. CHARLES M'CULLOCH.

Editor of The Sentinel: As you have requested a brief communication concerning a solution of the problem of preventing future flooding of the rivers, which has caused such destruction of property in our city, I can only say that I am not egotistical enough to believe that I understand the subject so thoroughly as to be able to advise all that should be or will have to be done; but I am confident that a few things will have to be done quickly to avoid greater disaster, probably in the near future.

We now realize how quickly the waters can be carried into our streams. We are, therefore, compelled to do such work as will enable these river channels to carry off this surplus water as rapidly as it is accumulated. The waters in the St. Mary's and St. Joseph rivers should be made to rush through their channels as quickly as possible, and this can only be done by deepening the river beds, straightening the channels and removing as far as possible all obstructions. I do not believe any of our bridges are as wide or as high as they ought to be. It will not cost a great sum to raise them, but it will cost considerably more to extend them, but this can be done, both by the city, county and railroad companies, without any such expense as would be considered a serious matter. The water came so close to one of our bridges that the floors were removed to give relief in case it rose a few inches higher.

Lengthen Concrete Bridges.

Unfortunately three beautiful cement bridges have been constructed since our last highest water, but unquestionably a mistake has been made in both the height and length of these bridges. The only thing that can be done with them is to lengthen them very considerably, so as to give more waterway, or to remove them. As they are located I think additional spans can be constructed for either, on one side or the other the land is low enough and not so valuable as to make condemnation proceedings expensive.

As to Dredges.

I believe two large steam dredges should be put to work immediately to lower the beds of the rivers, commencing some distance down the Maumee and running some distance up the other two rivers. An embankment five to ten feet higher and as wide as the present St. Joe boulevard should be immediately constructed from Walton avenue up the Maumee and the east bank of the St. Joseph river, until it strikes high land, or at a point where a short embankment can be created, running east back of the Indiana School for Feeble Minded Youth.

Coombs Street Bridge.

The serious trouble in constructing this embankment is the Coombs street bridge, which is not high enough in my opinion. I think this bridge was placed in an unfortunate location, on this account. If the land where beautiful Lakeside is located was still a farm as it was twenty-five years ago, we would not have to consider this matter, but now millions of dollars have been expended in beautiful homes, streets, sidewalks and parks, so to protect this most valuable property (that is in greater danger than any other) this work must be done in a very few months. It is fortunate that there was no ice on the river with this flood, for if there had been the Tennessee avenue bridge would have formed a dam that would have destroyed most of the homes in Lakeside. The St. Mary's river should be straightened wherever possible, and by the use of dredges, dikes should be constructed to prevent the overflow of the Commercial addition, Nebraska and Bloomingdale. These dikes should be strong and high; earth embankments are the best, if made strong and so high that the water does not run over them. Had St. Joe boulevard been three feet higher and the embankment on the Maumee a little higher and stronger, little damage would have been done in Lakeside.

Figuring the Cost.

The rapid draining of the whole country into our rivers makes the control of these waters one of the most important questions that the government, the states and cities will have to consider and solve. The committee appointed Monday night intends to give these questions its most prompt and serious consideration. We will try to obtain the best legal and engineering advice, so as to devise plans for raising a very considerable sum of money, for this will be required to do the work right, as well as the scientific advice that engineers can give. The county and city should proportionately join in raising money to do the work right, and great care must be exercised in the use of this money not to make any mistakes that will have to be rectified. Power for our electric light system must be produced above any high water mark, and while our water works plants are located where high waters may temporarily interfere, I believe some plan can be devised to give a sufficient water supply for a few days from wells on higher ground. Mr. P. A. Randall's plan for separating our sewers from the river, so that high water will not back up into our cellars, is an important one for future consideration. In many cities the sewage is carried into a large cement cesspool and the water pumped from this as fast as it accumulates. We must all stand together and be willing to meet our share of financial burdens put upon us according to our means.

IMMIGRANTS IN BALANCE HE SAYS

Ten Years of Restriction Would Mean Slavery for Capitalists.

TALKS ON SOCIALISM

New York, April 4.—Asserting that if immigration to this country were restricted for a decade slavery of capitalists would exist in lieu of the so-called wage earners' slavery, Prof. T. N. Carver of Harvard university analyzed "Socialism" before the Republican club at the weekly discussion.

The speaker also was of the opinion that conditions might be bettered if a laborer was prevented from marrying until he was earning a certain wage. He said that certain employers approved of large families in the laboring classes, as it caused a larger supply of cheap labor. He said that it might be argued that there was no reason why a bank president should receive more money than a ditch digger. "Except," he added, for the fact that there are not as many men capable of being bank presidents as there are men who can dig ditches."

"Supposing," he continued, "there could be such an extreme change in conditions that it required great talent to dig ditches and a multitude of men could run banks, the digger would become the plutocrat and the bank president would be the wage earner.

"What's wanted in the market of labor is the man who knows how. On the other hand, we might say that we don't need any more employers than the dog needs more fleas. But what's really needed to make the laborer better off is more employers."

Professor Carver said that holding the employers and capitalists up to odium and attacking them made it worse for the wage earners. He said that this was what socialists were doing.

"Let us pursue the opposite method," he said, "and train more men to become employers. Increase the supply of capitalists and you increase the demand for labor.

"Among the gross misrepresentations of which every socialist is guilty is the claim that labor is the sole producer of wealth, by the interpretation of such a claim as to make it appear to unskilled and ignorant laborers that their kind of labor is the sole producer of wealth. The work in the canal zone has sometimes been held up as a glorious example of what socialism can do. It is rather an example of benevolent despotism, for the workers in the canal zone have rather less to say about conditions under which they work than those in New York.

Algernon Lee, one time editor of the Call, said it was asserted that there were fifty-seven varieties of socialists, but that he belonged to the socialism for which there are 900,000 voters and 100,000 dues paying members.

"We hope," he said, "that Armageddon will be a peaceful and orderly conflict, free from violence which has accompanied most of the revolutions of the past."

Mr. Lee said that the socialists would have twice as many votes four years hence, and that socialism must be regarded as an historic movement going forward to the remaking of the world, something more momentous than the world has ever seen. He dated the time of socialism in a certain sense with the inventing of the steam engine.

"The socialist party," he said, "does not expect to win in a year. Its growth is that of the oak and not of the mushroom, and we expect only little for immediate tangible results."

Edwin E. Slosson, editor of the Independent, said that he preferred to go and read many books in the public library rather than to have what he called his four-millionth share outright. He told his hearers that he liked to walk in Riverside park and imagine that it was his own estate, and that the other persons there did not disturb him.

The Rev. Dr. John Wesley Hill asserted that socialism spelt confiscation and revolution, and that the progressives had jimmied the back door of the socialist house and stolen half a dozen silver plated spoons.

IN TWO COUNTIES AND DEFIES COURT

Lawyer Balked in Efforts to Serve Attachment on Woman.

SHERIFF AFTER HER

New York, April 4.—Mrs. Louise Gnellen owns her own house and back yard at 1418 Flushing avenue, in the suburban village of Metropolitan, New York city. The dividing line between Kings and Queens counties runs through Metropolitan and incidentally through Mrs. Gnellen's yard. Her house is in Kings county and her back yard in Queens.

Max Wendell,a veterinary surgeon of Metropolitan avenue, Ridgewood, obtained a judgment for $65.40 against Mrs. Gnellen last November in the Fourth district court, Brooklyn, Kings county. After the judgment was obtained Wendell's attorney, Arthur Werther, came to the conclusion that Mrs. Gnellen lived in Queens county, and not in Kings.

So he had the action in Kings county discontinued and before Judge Humphrey in the Queens county court in Long Island City began action in supplementary proceedings against her. Mrs. Gnellen put in an appearance one day and then refused to go to court after that. Judgment for $65.40 was obtained against her.

She refused to pay. The lawyer then obtained a body attachment for her arrest, intending to lock her up in the Queens county jail as a judgment debtor. It was turned over to Sheriff George Enemen for service. He sent deputy sheriffs to arrest her and she defied them, saying that her house was in Kings county and her back yard in Queens—and she kept out of the back yard. The sheriff looked it up and found she was right.

He stationed four deputy sheriffs about the back yard waiting for her to take a walk there, but she didn't go in the back yard, explaining that she did not have any call to go there, as it wasn't time to make her garden yet.

Werther appeared again before Judge Humphrey and explained the predicament his client was in and asked permission to discontinue action in Queens county. It was granted and he will again go to the Kings county court.

If she wants to escape the Kings county sheriff she can set up a tent in the Queens county end of her property.

MILLION POPPIES FOR EAST.

Sacramento Valley High School Pupils Send Out State Flower.

Sacramento, Cal., April 4.—The first 10,000 of the 1,000,000 California poppy plants and seeds have been shipped to 10,000 school children in twenty-five different eastern and middle western states. On each individual package, which will be sent by parcel post, will be the name of the sender, a pupil in the local high school, with compliments to a pupil in one of the eastern schools. The campaign for the distribution of the million poppies is in the hands of a citizens' floral committee and the sum of $20,000 to cover the expense of shipment has been guaranteed by a big Sacramento valley land company. It is planned by the committee to send shipments of 10,000 packages or more each week for a period of several months. At the present time there are in the hands of the committee the names of approximately 50,000 children who have forwarded their addresses. The enterprise is shorn of all commercialism and advertising features of a personal nature, and was originated for the purpose of bringing to the attention of eastern people the fact that California poppies are in bloom before the snow has began to disappear in the states where the poppies are to be sent.

HAS TEN REASONS FOR SEPARATION

Musician Has Many Charges Against His Cruel and Jealous Wife.

HE NUMBERED THEM

New York, April 4.—Alleging cruel and inhuman treatment, Sidney Kamna, a musician, began an action in the supreme court for a separation from Mrs. Wilhelmina M. Kamna of 1,139 Forest avenue, the Bronx.

The complaint gives the following specifications of the charges which Mr. Kamna makes:

1. She scolded him because her sister-in-law's husband gave a fur coat to his wife.
2. She hit him on the head with a gas lighter and bent the gas lighter.
3. She threatened to kill herself and her daughter, 10 years old.
4. She worked herself up into such a passion of anger at him that she remained ill for several days.
5. She compelled him to eat his meals alone.
6. She harrassed him in his business affairs by tying up his bank accounts with injunctions, thereby compelling him to pay legal expenses to get the injunctions vacated.
7. She was jealous of her husband's family.
8. She refused to entertain his music pupils, thereby compelling him to quit teaching music in his home.
9. She accused him of misconduct in his relations with other women.
10. She took the picture of her husband's father from the wall of their apartment and threw it on the floor.

Mr. and Mrs. Kamna were married on April 14, 1898. Otto B. Schmidt, of 55 Wall street, is counsel for Mr. Kamna. The defendant, it is said, will enter a general denial of all the charges.

Tomorrow we place on sale a special line of Neckwear at 25c. The most remarkable value ever shown.

NICK KAHL BACK TO THE CENTRAL

Manager Bade Myers is Dickering and May Secure Him.

WENT TO THE COAST

Canton, O., April 4.—Manager Bade Myers is still trying to dig up some suitable guardian for second base on the Canton squad for the coming campaign in the Interstate circuit. He has seen two good men slip away but now has a third in view in the person of Nick Kahl, who is known to a few of the Canton fans.

Myers had Kahl with him for two seasons at Quincy in the Three-I league, playing third base. When Bade left the league Kahl was taken out to the coast by Tom Hackett, manager of the Sacramento team, but he does not want to stay there for the coming season. He prefers to play in this section because his home is in Cleveland. Myers is now in communication with both Hackett and Kahl in an effort to bring the infielder to Canton.

For years Kahl was in the Central league, playing for a time with Grand Rapids. He usually plays second but switched to third when he went to Quincy. In 1911 he led the Three-I in fielding with an average of .966 and hit .245. Last year he raised his batting average to .264 and retained the lead in fielding with a mark of .946. He holds the Three-I record by going through thirty-three games at third base without an error.

Myers was disappointed twice in his search for a second-sacker to take the place of Chester King, who is due to be traded or sold. The first occasion came when Rockenfield could not be purchased from the Kansas City club of the A. A. because the necessary $200 was not available at that time for the purchase of players. The Canton club owners wanted to trade some of their reserve men rather than invest the hard cash in new material.

The second occasion was more recent, coming when Jimmy Hamilton signed with Pensacola, Fla., rather than come to Canton under Myers. He did not even reply to the letters and telegrams of the Canton manager.

Myers is hoping that the third time will bring success and not another disappointment. If he can land Kahl, the manager will forget Rockenfield and Hamilton.

The manager sent a contract Wednesday to Willis Croft, pitcher for Newcastle in the old O.-P., and will give him a try-out this spring if the document is returned with Croft's signature attached. Jimmy Barton, a friend of Myers, and manager of the Newcastle team several years ago, recommended Croft. The former Nock heaver is known in Canton as he pitched many games at League park. He was once drafted by Cincinnati, but could not make the riffle into the big show.

REPORT IS DENIED.

Friends of Jiggs Donahue Say He Is Still Among Living.

Chicago, April 4.—Reports from Columbus circulated Saturday to the effect that Jiggs Donahue, former White Sox first baseman, is dead, is unfounded, according to the information secured from the Columbus state hospital officials today.

The report circulated stated that the former south side star had died in the hospital for the insane five weeks ago, but this is considered by the close friends of Jiggs, who are constantly in touch with him, as the work of enemies who are trying to collect his life insurance. The hospital officials say Donahue's condition is unchanged and that his illness is not serious at present.

ESSICK PLEASED WITH HIS TRIP

Secured Choice on Some Material for Grand Rapids Club.

PLAYERS GETTING IN

Grand Rapids, Mich., April 4.—President W. E. Essick returned to Grand Rapids this morning from Chicago, where he went for a conference with Charles A. Comiskey and Charles W. Murphy, of the two major league clubs, and is hopeful of negotiating the release of several desirable players. He was promised first choice on some players just as soon as the time for weeding out comes.

While in the office of the president of the Chicago Cubs he met President A. W. Wagner, of the Terre Haute team, who was there on the same mission as he. Convinced that the players who could be secured now from the major league clubs will not be as good as those who might be secured later, he is prepared to wait a week or two longer. Wagner stated that the Terre Haute park has been but little affected by the big flood in Indiana.

Manager Ed Smith received a telegram from President Louis Heilbroner, of the Central league, to the effect that he does not anticipate any postponements on account of the big flood in Ohio and Indiana, but that he is fearful that the conditions in some of the cities are so deplorable that he can scarcely see how the citizens can fail to be less interested in baseball than they would have been but for the flood.

The new owners of the Grand Rapids team show right off the reel that the grab-all policy which has hurt baseball here many times in the past is not to be theirs. They know that with good weather on Sunday a paying crowd might turn out. They have decided, however, that no game will be played because their players will not be fit by that time and they do not consider it would be fair to their patrons to ask pay to see them when they are not in condition. There was no practice yesterday and is scarcely likely to be today.

The players are coming in on every train now and all of them are expected to be here before the end of the week.

Manager Smith announces the release of three players today. They are Roy Hale, the veteran pitcher of Allegan; Frank Mautner, a Chicago semi-pro first baseman, and George Moore, a pitcher from Altoona, Pa. Hale, who was under suspension all last season because he held out for higher salary, is made a free agent through this release. Hale managed the Grand Haven semi-pro team last season. Catcher Charles Niedeman, of Chicago, wired today that he will reach Grand Rapids tonight.

SMITH CALLS MEETING.

President of Shop League Wants Action in His Organization.

President Charles F. Smith, of the shop league, urges all members of the board of directors to be present at the meeting called for the Commercial club tonight. The sixth club is to be chosen and much important business is to be disposed of.

Already the league is several weeks behind in its work and some strong efforts will be necessary if it is to be gotten into good running order on schedule time.

BAITHE BACK AT THE CLUB.

Will Have Charge of Golf Links During the Coming Season.

William Baithe, who has had charge of the Country club golf links for the last two seasons, has been engaged for 1913 and will assume his duties there on April 15. A number of the enthusiasts have been out on the links this spring whenever opportunity offered and as soon as they are in shape a rush is anticipated.

CLARK GRIFFITH SAYS HE HAS YOUTH COUPLED WITH BASE BALL BRAINS AND SPEED.

Washington, April 4.—Youth and speed upon this combination Clarke Griffith depends to win the American league pennant in 1913 with the once despised Washington team, last year runner-up in the championship.

At Charlottesville, Va., where the Nationals trained, the "Old Fox" worked day after day, searching for the combination that would give the team a cut in the world's series this year.

While critics favor the Athletics for the flag, with the Red Sox carrying odds for place, the "Old Fox" is not bothering over the opinion of the "experts."

JOE ENGLE. "REBEL" WILLIAMS. JACINTO CALVO.

"I had a mighty good team last year, didn't I?" demands Griffith. "Well, I've got the same team yet. Furthermore, I've picked up some of the most promising players I ever looked at. They are young and fast. That's what I want—youth and speed. These, with what I know about baseball, will give me a chance for the pennant."

Griffith's contention is sound. His team today is the same that won seventeen straight games last year. Each player is improved just so much as a year's experience gives confidence and smoothness.

But one infield place, second base, is in doubt, and the "Old Fox" has one of the best looking youngsters ever seen in a major league citizens in Joe Gedeon, last year with San Francisco, where he played the outfield. He threatens to oust Frank Laporte the slugging veteran, and Roy Morgan, the fast fielding youngster.

Gedeon is 21, a switcher, fast as a cricket, a reliable batter, and he has the nerve of a book agent. He may not start the season at second, but will be there before the leaves begin to fall.

The other promising infield material consists of "Rebel" Williams, from Newark, O., and Morley Jennings, last year Knoxville's shortstop. Williams is 19, has speed, can hit and has baseball brains.

Nine outfielders reported to Griffith, but the odds have always favored the veterans Milan, Shanks and Moeller. Milan led the country in stolen bases last year and has no competition. Shanks, whose hitting was too light, and Moeller, whose shoulder bothered him last fall, have a fight on their hands.

Prominent competitors are Jacinto Calvo and Rabbinojo Acosta, Cubans. Calvo hit .356 in the Cuban league, punishing Bender and Coombs last fall. He is 20, fast, and hits with the best men on the team. Acosta is 16, and led the squad at bat in training camp. He acts like a veteran and runs bases like Milan.

Also there are Joe Connolly, from Montreal; Bill Allen, from Sharon, Pa., and Harry Welchonce, from Nashville. They can hit, and come well recommended. The Cubans are favored, because the "Old Fox" demands youth and speed.

The incomparable Walter Johnson, the hulky Carl Cashion, the aged, crafty Tom Hughes and the slender Bob Groom, make up the quartet of regular pitchers, but Griffith wants others, youngsters to develop and to last for years, so he is working with Joe Engle, Joe Boehling and Melvin Gallia, not yet of age; Elliot Dent, from Newark, and Tom Drohan, Kewanee's winning pitcher. The last pair have reputations, but are not so youthful, so must win from the start to hold on.

Carrol Barton, a Washington sand batter; Victor Bickers, a Buffalo semi-pro, and Bob Austin, a Wesleyan college pro, and Bob Austin, a Wesleyan college pro, under 21, are trying to impress the "Old Fox" with their pitching.

"Have we a chance for the pennant?" says Griffith. "Of course we have. Give us our share of the breaks and we will run over them all rough shod. I can't say what my line-up will be until I find the best possible combination as I found it last season. But I am satisfied with my youngsters. I want kids, no matter how young, and I want them fast. I've got them now and I'll do my best to make them winners."

EVOLVES A NEW SWINDLE.

Philadelphia Man, Posing as Reporter, Quits Saddened Homes.

Philadelphia, April 4. A remarkable method of obtaining money was charged yesterday against William Whiteford, of this city, before Magistrate Eisenbrown, in the central police station.

Whiteford, according to the charge, has been walking the streets for weeks looking for crepe hanging on front doors. It was alleged he entered the house of mourning, posed as a newspaper reporter, and offered to print a picture of the deceased and a lengthy obituary for a dollar. He was arrested by a special policeman in his home. In a trunk were a number of photographs. Whiteford was held under $600 bail pending a further hearing.

GETS AWAY IN PACKING CASE.

Connecticut Forger Makes Novel Escape from Prison.

Hartford, Conn., April 4.—Curtis Dewey, serving a seven-year term for forgery, made a sensational escape from the state prison at Wethersfield yesterday. He concealed himself in a packing case supposed to contain the product of the prison shirt factory. The box was taken to a railroad freight car, where Dewey pried it open and escaped.

The escape was not discovered until the van returned to the prison from the depot and an investigation disclosed the empty box in the freight car. It is suspected that Dewey was in collusion with "trusties" who carried out the boxes. It is supposed he escaped to the neighboring woods.

VARNELL CUT OFF BY BIG WASHOUTS

Team Owner Made Hundred Miles in Twelve Hours of Travel.

TO LOOK OVER PARK

In a telegram from Orville, O., today Owner Claude H. Varnell, who is on his way here to look over the grounds and decide upon repairs, stated that in twelve hours his train had traveled a hundred miles out of Pittsburg.

If he had been on schedule time he would have arrived in Fort Wayne early this morning, but there has been a big washout on the Pennsylvania tracks at Cooler, O., which is between his train and Fort Wayne.

This will make a big detour necessary and it is difficult to say just when he will be here. He is making the trip in response to a message from President Louis Heilbroner, who looked over the local park yesterday, and wired the conditions to the owner.

Mr. Varnell's lot is in bad shape—worse than it has ever been, and the high water has hit him some hard blows. When he gets here he will decide when to order his men in and just what steps are necessary to get ready for the opening.

Advices received by the president indicate that Dayton is the only city on the circuit hard hit by the floods. Fort Wayne is second but newspapers at Evansville say players are being hustled in and exhibition games booked and this points that the grounds are in good shape.

REDS WANT DRY PARK.

Will Be Sent to Lexington to Finish Up Training Season.

Louisville, Ky., April 4.—Frank Bancroft left for Lexington last night to make arrangements for the Cincinnati Reds to play there a week beginning Saturday. It will be impossible to use the Reds' park for ten days as it is flooded. Joe Tinker has released Catcher Danforth unconditionally, and sent Pitcher Jack Frost to Montreal.

Mrs. Mary Zidek, of 1206 West Jefferson street, has been admitted to Hope hospital for treatment.

Friendship lodge, No. 70, International Association of Machinists, is preparing for a social session to be held on Friday evening, April 25 at Harmony hall.

PLAYERS ARE IN AT TERRE HAUTE

Rain and Bad Grounds Prevent Practice for Exhibitions.

MEN ARE DELAYED

Terre Haute, Ind., April 4.—Harry Arndt, Leonard Madden, pitcher; Outfielder Gilbert and Johnny Jones, spit ball expert, are among the late arrivals in the Terre Haute training camp.

Nearly every man who has tried to reach Terre Haute has been from twelve hours to two days late on account of conditions following in the wake of the high waters but it makes little difference as none of the men who got in early have been able to do any training work on account of the wet grounds and bad weather.

Charlie Pick, who was one of the infielders on the club of last season, has reported for duty, and Reynolds, Wheeler, Ball, Hensel, Yoho and Ryan, all recruits, have been taking as much exercise as the conditions here permitted.

Anderson is certain of the ability of Harry Arndt to make good as first baseman and it is not likely that he will give Biddy Dolan much consideration in the matter. Arndt has had the experience and last season indicated that he can play the bag in good style. He had the worry of a tail end and penniless club on his hands last year and made an excellent showing under this great handicap.

Along with the rain came a letter from the Chicago National league club in which Sunday's scheduled game with the locals was called off. C. Webb Murphy stated that the national commission has sanctioned the cancellation of all spring dates in the flood district and therefore the Cubs were not liable to a fine for failure to appear. On receipt of the letter Secretary Billy Wayland wired Manager Cantillon, of the Minneapolis A. A. club, which is training in Kentucky, asking him if he could bring his Millers to Terre Haute for a contest Sunday. A definite answer was expected before nightfall.

Two infielders, Stephenson and McLaughlin, came to the front today. Stephenson hails from Shelburn, Ind., the home of George Wheeler, and is said to be a fast man in the inner works. McLaughlin lives at St. Mary's. He played with the Vans last year and so impressed Billy Wayland that he was offered a contract. Both are youngsters who are thought to have promising futures before them.

HOLDOUTS JOIN CARDS.

Three Valuable Men Get Into St. Louis Fold With Signed "Poipers."

Indianapolis, April 4.—Manager Miller Huggins, of the St. Louis Cardinals, who is here with his team, announces that Konetchy, Evans and Oakes, who have been holdouts though making the training trip, have signed their contracts and that he expects to close with Magee, the remaining holdout, soon. It is also stated that Jack Stansbury, a Cardinal recruit, goes back to Louisville, from where he was secured.

STERZER IS NOT IN SAILOR FOLD

Premier Pitcher of Erie Team Has Not Signed Contract.

QUINLAN IS ON DECK

Erie, Pa., April 4.—Larry Quinlan, who will lead the Erie Sailors on their cruise around the Interstate circuit this season, breezed into Erie yesterday to begin operations preparatory to the spring training of his crew. He is several days in advance of his squad.

Every Sailor but one has come across with a signed contract for the 1913 season, despite the fact that a month ago there were a half dozen or more of determined holdouts among the reserve men. Buck Sterzer, premier pitcher of the Gilbert gang of last season, is the lone member of the H.-O. brigade now, and he is expected to sign as soon as the training season opens. Sterzer wants a boost in salary for his good work of last season.

Perry field, the up-to-date ball park, is being sprured up for the opening of the Interstate season. Although a new park, it is being dressed in different colors for the advent of the new circuit. The lot is being regraded, the sod on the infield is being given a haircut and the stands are being put in a high state of cleanliness.

The sale of season books in Erie has proven satisfactory so far, a large number being placed. Fans not holding stock are purchasing the same as those who do.

President O'Connor, of the Erie club, has prepared a schedule which he will submit to the clubs of the circuit for consideration. He has several objections to the drafts of Harmon and Hogan which are removed in his own schedule.

PREFERRED DEATH TO ASYLUM.

New Jersey Woman Ends Life to Escape Institution for Insane.

Lakewood, N. J., April 4.—Rather than be taken to an asylum where it had been decided she should be sent for a time as the consequence of a recent illness, Mrs. George C. Hankins, wife of a prosperous farmer at Cassville, near here, burned herself to death in her home yesterday by pouring kerosene over her clothing and touching a match to the oil-soaked garments. Her husband, rushing in from the dooryard, where he had been working, dashed water over her and wrapped her in a blanket. She had been fatally burned, however, and died after gasping out the explantion for her act.

The "Winston" Suit---$25

A beauty---and a bargain

This Suit is, like many other Wooltex Suits in our ready-to-wear department, as remarkable for the value given at its price as it is for its style and "snap."

It has a simple but clever modification of the popular cut-a-way jacket, the rigid severity of the tailoring being relieved by a deft touch at the cuffs and by small self-colored buttons, effectively placed.

The skirt buttons at side-front in order to give a smooth and unbroken panel at the back, while the button relief on the jacket is skilfully continued on the otherwise plain skirt.

This Suit will give long wear and equally long satisfaction.

As you see it in the picture, so it will look on you when you buy it, and as it looks when you buy it so it will look as long as it can be worn.

For its beauty is not merely on the surface—it is Wooltex beauty, built from the foundation up.

To be had in a variety of staple and novelty cloths, in most of which the price is

CALLED COUNCIL TO TALK DAMAGE

Commissioners May Ask for Money to Dredge the Maumee River.

NEW HAVEN BRIDGE

A call was issued today from the county commissioners' court to the members of the county council, asking them to meet on Saturday, April 12, to take up the question of appropriating money for a dredge, to repair the damage done to the New Haven bridge and the other flood damage done in the county.

Until Governor Samuel M. Ralston issues his proclamation declaring the laws passed by the last legislature effective the board cannot purchase a dredge, but when one is obtained it will be used for cleaning up the channel of the Maumee river from the city limits to the state line.

This will be the first movement toward removing obstructions that keep back the flow of water and the dredge will be used in the other streams. The council will take up the question of putting up at New Haven a steel bridge that is lying in the storage yard at the county jail or buying a new span to cover the washout. A representative of the Attica Bridge company was sent down today to look over the situation and file a report.

Property to Husband.

Under the will of Martha E. Singleton all her property was left to her husband, Louis Singleton, and he is made executor of the estate.

TURKEY SENDS SYMPATHY.

Washington, April 4.—Although embroiled in a disastrous war the Turkish government found time today to send a message of sympathy to the American government over the flood disaster in the middle west. The sultan also, through the Turkish embassy, transmitted his condolences to President Wilson and through him to the American people. The customary warm messages of appreciation were dispatched in reply to both communications.

Detective Burns, Gaiety today and tomorrow.

NO NERVOUSNESS SOON.

Physical Director Has System to Prevent It in Youth.

Washington, April 4.—Nervousness will cease in the next generation to be the curse of the American people, in the opinion of Gordon Law, physical director of the local Young Men's Christian association, who announced today that he had perfected a system of physical culture that would effectually prevent it in growing youth. He declared he would make his system public within a few days. In general it is calculated to strengthen the spinal vertebrae, the nerves that radiate from the spine and the muscles of the neck. "If nervousness is to be checked in the coming generation," said Mr. Law, "we must start with the children, which is the reason I have formulated these exercises for use in the Y. M. C. A. boys' department."

Mr. Law said the exercises would be included at once in the regular physical work of the Y. M. C. A. boys' department here.

ANOTHER BREAK IN THE LINE

Eastern Division of Pennsylvania Has Flood Troubles in Ohio.

BRIDGE AT COULTER SETTLES 20 INCHES

General Electric Lamp Employes' Ball Attended by 1,300 People.

A steel girder bridge spanning a small stream at Coulter, Ohio, on the Eastern division of the Pennsylvania, settled twenty inches last night, making a break in the line which will probably be repaired some time tonight. In the mean time all trains must be detoured over the Akron route, the same as during the trouble at Lucas several days ago. Coulter, which is a new station established to accommodate the lumber interests there, is ten miles east of Mansfield and four miles from Lucas, where one of the worst breaks of the flood on the Eastern division occurred. The masonry work on each end of the Coulter bridge settled.

OVER 1,300 PEOPLE THERE.

Dance of the Lamp Makers Was Most Happy Event.

The first annual ball of the General Electric Mutual Benefit association in the second story of the big factory building at the corner of Holman and Clinton streets last night, was all that the management expected, considering the conditions resulting from the recent floods. It is estimated that during the evening over 1,300 people visited the hall and the greater portion of the crowd remained to dance or enjoy the pedro games. The hall was beautifully decorated, one of the pieces being a ten-foot emblem of the society, which contained 500 lamps of various colors and sizes and which was most artistically designed. Various colored lights were placed in other portions of the hall, shedding their rays over the animated scenes below and producing a very pleasing effect. The new dining hall, recently installed on that floor, was also crowded during the greater part of the evening by the guests who sought the refreshments served there. The pedro games were intended for those who did not care to dance, and there were a number of these. Good prizes were awarded, the leading lady's prize going to Miss Leona Haley and the first gents' prize to John Horner. The music, furnished by the Metropolitan orchestra, was good and the hospitality and courteous attention given the guests was in line with the excellent reputation the people at the lamp works have won in social and industrial circles in Fort Wayne. There are no better entertainers.

IN NEW QUARTERS.

Carpenters' Union Outgrows Its Old Meeting Place.

The Carpenters' union has been compelled to seek more commodious quarters because the hall at 610 Calhoun street would no longer accommodate the big attendance at some of the meetings. Last night the union met for the first time in Harmony hall, on West Berry street. After the interesting business session the carpenters indulged in a smoker of an informal character. It was the intention to celebrate the occupancy of the new quarters with a banquet, but the conditions brought about by the flood induced the management to give up the expensive banquet and donate the funds that would have been spent for it to the general high water relief union. Interest now centers in the proposed new wage scale, to become effective May 1. The brick masons have a similar movement on foot and the painters are now working under a wage scale that become effective April 1.

HANDLING PANHANDLE TRAINS.

The Panhandle tracks between Richmond and Columbus have not been repaired and put in service yet and the Grand Rapids and Indiana is handling the fast trains, 24 and 25, between Ridgeville and Richmond. These trains came through Fort Wayne several days.

BILLY SCHULTZ HEADS LIST.

Electrical Benefit Society Elects to the Presidency.

The annual meeting of the Fort Wayne Electric Works Employes' Mutual Benefit association last night was not as largely attended as the interest indicated it would be, owing, no doubt, to the very disagreeable weather. Officers were elected as follows:

President, William Schultz.

Vice President, George Kayser.

Financial secretary, George H. Waldschmidt.

Recording secretary, Frank G. Heller.

Treasurer, John H. Evans.

Because of the small attendance, only routine business and the annual election were transacted.

HELD CROSSING TOO LONG.

The Columbia City officials claim that the Pennsylvania trainmen violate the crossing ordinance of that city repeatedly and have decided to make arrests in all cases hereafter, the Columbia City Commercial says. That paper says "Sheriff Marion Egolf left Thursday for Fort Wayne, he having in his possession a warrant calling for the arrest of Conductor Gilpen, of the Pennsylvania railroad, who is wanted in this city by the officers on a charge of holding a railroad crossing with his train for a period of forty-five minutes."

INSPECTING COMMISSARY TRAIN.

Division Engineer Guy Scott, of the Pennsylvania, is on the Akron division of the system today, inspecting a new style commissary train owned by the Long Island. This is said to be the best equipped train of its kind in existence and the Pennsylvania may decide to have one built like it.

LOSS BY FLOOD HEAVY.

Dr. J. Sion Smith, who has charge of the foundry yards at the Bass works, and who was off duty ten days on account of the flood, resumed work this morning. Dr. Smith resides in Lakeside and his home was inundated. Every piece of furniture and floor covering, the doors and in places the flooring in the first story of Dr. Smith's house is ruined. He started the fires yesterday and as the furniture, which had been water soaked, began to dry it fell apart a hopeless ruin. The piano is also ruined.

FIRST PRACTICE SATURDAY.

Lynn G. Shoub, manager of the Bass shop team, at the meeting of the club last night, announced that if the weather conditions were favorable, the club would have a practice game on the Pennsylvania stock yard grounds tomorrow afternoon. Manager Shoub will try out nineteen men who aspire to membership in the club.

INSPECTED 1,500 CAR WHEELS.

Mr. Maumma, of Altoona, who came here early in the week to inspect car wheels at the Bass foundry for the Pennsylvania railroad, left for his home this afternoon. While here he inspected over 1,500 car wheels for the company.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

L. J. Meyers and H. F. Wass, Pennsylvania shopmen, are sick and off duty.

Machinist L. C. McCulloch, of the Pennsylvania shops, is off duty with an ulcerated tooth.

Peter H. Goda, motive power inspector for the Pennsylvania, is in Pittsburg on business for the company.

Boilermaker Ed Daley, of the Bass works, is putting in new flues in one of the boilers at the Packard Piano works.

E. O. Wagner, commercial agent of the Grand Rapids and Indiana road, has returned from Kalamazoo, where he spent several days on business.

William Vachon, of the store room at the Electric works, had his upper lip painfully cut while at work at the factory yesterday. He is off duty.

W. C. Kolb, a laborer in the Pennsylvania machine shop, had the little finger of his left hand crushed last night and will be unable to work for a few days.

Kenneth Kucher, who recently resigned a position in the Pennsylvania freight office, will leave tomorrow for Enid, Okla., where he will visit relatives several weeks.

The Pennsylvania machine shop is filling up the broken ranks of laborers at present. This morning Cosimo Barele, Roy A. Buchman and Alvin F. Distel became employes there.

The steam shovel and dump cars used here in Wabash track elevation work by the Hannan-Hickey Construction company, were sent to Vincennes, Ind., today. The company has a big contract in that city.

Charles H. Tonsing, chief clerk for Supt. B. H. Hudson, of the Grand Rapids and Indiana, was presented with a pretty baby daughter. This is the first child in the family and she brought sunshine and happiness in abundance to the parents.

E. E. Dildine, who has been engaged in inspecting engine construction work for the Pennsylvania at the Baldwin Locomotive works for some months, was here yesterday on his way to Peru to look after the parents of Mrs. Dildine, who reside there and whose home was flooded.

Interesting Surprises Revealed Through a Portrait Album Proposition.

MR. AND MRS. R. D. HART.

Several months ago M. S. Willson, of the Fort Wayne Electric works, conceived the idea of accumulating the pictures of the "boys" who worked in that department during his administration of affairs there into one massive album. This project affects a period of twenty-five years and 135 men, and to accomplish it Mr. Willson is sending out letters to as many of the "boys" as he can locate. The letters in part state that he "wants the pictures to be about the size of a postal card and to be accompanied by some lines written on paper the size of the photo card, subject to be serious, frivolous or otherwise, to be placed in an album so that when I get old I may look upon the portraits of the fellows with whom I was associated once and wonder where they are and what they are doing." A number of replies have already been received and some of them revealed matrimonial conditions that did not exist when Mr. Willson last heard from the writers. Among these was a postcard picture of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Hart, of Spokane, Wash., which The Sentinel reproduces above. Mr. Hart was with Mr. Willson at the Electric works two or three years, leaving about two years ago to accept the position at Spokane he now occupies. He was socially inclined and had a wide aquaintance in the city. His bride is the daughter of well known residents of Spokane and the portrait marks her a woman of refinement. This was the first news Mr. Willson received of the marriage of Mr. Hart. Accompanying the picture was a card bearing the following lines: "On this slip of paper, just right size, find something serious, frivolous and otherwise. My serious remarks would be just these: Love and serve God and live at ease. My frivolous thoughts run about like this: A home and wife, oh, joy! what bliss! When otherwise my mind does turn, for college friends I always yearn. If on these three I'd concentrate, then and indeed would be my fate. But volts and amps still bother me, for I'm with the superintendent of the W. W. P."

ENGINEERS WILL SOLVE QUESTION

Discussion of Flood Prevention Offers No Solution.

REQUEST FOR MONEY

Engineers of vast experience will have to solve the question of flood prevention in Fort Wayne and although this city has some most capable and efficient men, most of them are engaged in business and are not able to give the attention to details necessary to accomplish the big task.

Elimination of short span bridges in the future, dredging the rivers and raising the dikes are agreed upon as the things necessary, but it will take a big sum of money to do this and as a start $5,000 will be asked of the city council at its meeting next Tuesday night to get the movement before the proper authorities.

There is imperative need of quick action and the men who met at the Commercial club last night recognize it. Before a year has elapsed there must be protection for the property along the banks of all the rivers and for that reason Frank B. Taylor, Timothy Foohey and John F. Reuss will urge the council to set aside the money under a suspension of rules so that it will become immediately available.

Charles McCulloch, H. C. Rockhill and W. D. Henderson will appear before the council to aid in putting through the appropriation. City Attorney Harry G. Hogan drafted today a resolution asking the appropriation and an ordinance providing for it.

Present at the meeting were the men named on the committees and James Rogers, superintendent of bridges for the Nickel Plate railroad; Robert E. Kelly, secretary of the flood association; Harvey Hall and E. E. Greist, of the Pennsylvania company; C. J. Steiss, of the park board; Frank M. Randall, city civil engineer, and Engineer Singer, of the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company. President Stephen B. Fleming and W. M. Griffin were called out of the city on business and could not attend the session.

Timothy Foohey suggested that attention be given to the Maumee, as its capacity is less than that of the rivers that flow into it and there were discussions by Mr. McCulloch, H. C. Rockhill, Frank B. Taylor and others, but it is first necessary to get a general plan and an estimate of the cost and more than to ask for the money nothing tangible was accomplished at the meeting, as there was nothing more that could have been done.

County Attorney E. G. Hoffman sent a communication in which he quoted a law that gives the county commissioners the power to buy dredges to get out gravel necessary for use on the roads and the maps and profiles on file with the park board were before the meeting.

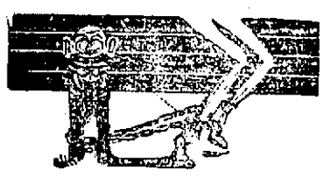
Wan, Weary and Worn Out

If You Feel Fagged to a Finish and Utterly Used Up Here is Quick Relief.



Half the people you meet complain of weary muscles, stagnant brain, jangled nerves, and a wonderful desire to lay down and just quit. Most of these people have been using nervines that spasmodically flare up the nerves only to die down again, as die they must. Avoid nerve stimulants. Bear in mind that this worn out feeling is due to poor blood, to bacteria in the water you drink; to the multiplying of destructive germs in the blood faster than they can be overcome by the white corpuscles; and to what is known as auto-toxemia, that condition where the venous or impure blood accumulates faster than it can be replaced by the red arterial blood.

If you feel played out go to any drug store and ask for a bottle of S. S. S., Swift's Sure Specific. Here is a remedy that gets at work in a twinkling; it just naturally rushes right into your blood, scatters germs right and left, up and down and sideways.

You feel better at once, not from a stimulant, not from the action of drugs, but from the rational effect of a natural medicine just as active and just as timely as to a man who has been lost in the mountains, is about starved and comes across a settler just cooking a savory meal of good honest beef. Do not neglect to get a bottle of S. S. S. to-day. It will make you feel better in just a few minutes. It is prepared only in the laboratory of The Swift Specific Co., 127 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Send for their free book telling of the many strange conditions that afflict the human family by reason of impoverished blood.

WHY THE RICH GROW RICHER

It's Because They Cannot Help It, Declares R. W. Babson.

CAPITALIST HIMSELF

(Editor's Note To appreciate the full significance of this article one must realize that its author, Roger W. Babson, is himself one of the capitalistic class. He is a Boston banker and the head of Babson's Statistical Organization, which furnishes reports and financial advice to the leading financiers and business men of the country. As a student and expounder of fundamental financial, economic and industrial conditions Mr. Babson has a world-wide reputation. The editor commends this article to the thoughtful consideration of every reader, whatever his station in life.)

BY ROGER W. BABSON.

(Written Especially for The Sentinel.)

We hear again, since the death of J. Pierpont Morgan, that 95 per cent of the wealth of this country is in the hands of a favored 5 per cent of our population, while the great 95 per cent of people have only a scant 5 per cent of the wealth.

In this connection my readers will be interested in an estimate which I have at hand, giving the sizes of nine private fortunes in America:

$1,000,000,000
600,000,000
300,000,000
250,000,000
250,000,000
200,000,000
200,000,000
150,000,000
150,000,000

$3,000,000,000

Astounding as this prodigious total may be, it tells only half the story, and my purpose in citing these figures is to call attention to what I believe to be a still more serious menace. I refer to the yearly income which those fortunes produce. In other words, the money is steadily drawing interest for its wealthy owners.

The interest on $3,000,000,000 at 5 per cent is $150,000,000 a year. Think what that means!

Why are the rich growing richer? In one sense, because they can't help it. While they eat, while they sleep, while they work or play, their fortunes grow with every tick of the clock. Therefore the "unequal distribution of wealth," which we hear so much about, is really of less importance than the unequal distribution of income. That is the serious, disturbing, vital question of the day; and from every quarter comes the demand that something be done about it.

Briefly let me note some of the remedies which have been proposed.

In the first place, it has been suggested that all of us should take advantage of this very same factor which is making the rich richer; namely, the factor of interest. The plan is that we should cease to be a nation of good spenders and become a nation of good investors. No human being save a born miser, likes to save for the mere sake of saving; but surely the idea of having a little capital always at work for us is one which should appeal to the business instinct with which all Americans are endowed.

In France, I find, almost every family owns one or more bonds, just as in the United States almost every family owns one or more dogs. A bond is a great deal more profitable than a dog and has made many a poor man rich. The story is told of one of the wealthiest men in America, that on receipt of a few dollars return on his first investment, he exclaimed:

"EUREKA, I HAVE FOUND IT, THE SECRET OF RICHES—PUT MONEY AT WORK."

Another solution of a different sort is the income tax. To be most effective such a tax ought to be graded. The larger the income, the higher should be the rate. Men of only moderate income, with families to support, should be exempt from income tax; millionaires should be taxed heavily; while multi-millionaires should be taxed most heavily of all. Such a method of taxation would be fundamentally fair, putting the biggest burden on the broadest back, and would certainly help toward making the rich poorer and the poor richer.

Still another solution is to make our people more independent. If every family had a garden spot on which it could depend for all or at least a large part of its food, the members could do pretty much as they pleased. Rich folks would find it harder to get people to work for them at any price, and might even be compelled to do some work for themselves. Give us more farmers, therefore big and little men, women and children! A farmer is the most independent chap on earth, he can't be locked out, starved out or put out. If 95 per cent of our people were farmers the handful of millionaires would be looking for a job.

Finally, I have been thinking that sooner or later we must come to see that the chief danger of unreasonable wealth falls upon the very man who possesses the fortune. Gold is practically worthless. As Edison says: "All it is good for is to gild picture frames and fill defective teeth." Stocks and bonds are also worthless so far as the mere paper certificates are concerned. The whole value of that $3,000,000,000 I mentioned, rests on one thing and one thing only; it entitles the owners thereof to the services of the rest of us.

It would collapse to nothing in the twinkling of an eye were it not for orderly, hard-working, conscientious, law-abiding citizens.

Everything, therefore, which causes unrest, discontent and ill-feeling shakes every fortune, great or small, throughout the entire nation. The man who should be most keenly interested in preventing a monstrous accumulation of wealth in a few hands, is the rich man. For such accumulation means a burden on society too great to be borne, and that means financial disaster.

I believe that our rich men will presently see the truth of this, as so many of them have already. If that is so, then the way is clear; these various measures for righteousness and justice will come quickly when it is seen that they are for the sole benefit of neither rich nor poor, but for the common benefit of each and all. Never mind the bloated fortunes; let us get after the swollen incomes, and the fortunes will go down of themselves.

HOME FROM PANAMA.

Col. D. N. Foster, Judge W. J. Vesey, W. E. Dond, Clarence Shell and E. F. Yarnelle returned yesterday from a trip to Panama. While on the way home they received exaggerated reports of the flood here, but when they reached New Orleans they found papers and letters informing them of the true conditions in this city. All of the men are enthusiastic in their praises of the work at the "big ditch."

MAKES A BITTER ATTACK ON FROST

Promoter "Double-Crossed" His Associates, Says Attorney.

CASE IS NEAR JURY

Chicago, April 4.—Albert C. Frost was pictured yesterday as a cold blooded promoter, who not only schemed illegally to obtain $10,000,000 worth of government coal lands in Alaska, but "double-crossed" his associates and used his employes as tools in furthering his purposes.

Albert H. Welch, assistant attorney general, in his closing arguments for the government in the Alaskan land fraud cases in Judge Landis' court turned his batteries upon Frost as soon as the defense had rested its case. The climax to the trial came unexpectedly and the jury should get the case for consideration by tonight. Albert Fink will speak first for the defense and he will be followed by Nathaniel C. Sears, George T. Buckingham, Samuel Alschuler, Amos R. Marston, Fletcher Dobyns and former Judge Robinson of Seattle, who constitute the defense corps. B. D. Townsend will close for the government.

Frost Methods Attacked.

In his attack upon Frost and his methods the prosecutor did not spare him. He said the promoter had used $6 and $8 a week employes as "dummy entrymen" in the coal fields with the expressed intent of using the land they obtained for his own purposes. Mr. Welch charged him with having originated a scheme whereby he would not only defraud the government but the public as well.

"From 1904 until the time when the government stepped in and suspended title to these coal lands Frost and Watson, together with Mullen, the land office man whom the government trusted, were attempting to steal these lands," charged Mr. Welch. "With Washington 4,000 miles away and employes who could not be trusted on the ground, they nearly succeeded in doing so.

"Frost had only one purpose in getting 'dummy entrymen' to file for title on those lands. He had organized a $30,000,000 railroad corporation—the Alaska Central. He had to have fuel for that road and he had to have something to haul. That something was coal, which he expected to take from his own mines in the Manustka valley. Not only did he intend to get rich off of coal, but he would have made a pile off of that railroad.

Would Line Own Pockets.

"The evidence shows that he organized a construction company to build the road. This concern was to get $70,000 in bonds for every mile of roadway it built. This would have gone to line Frost's pockets.

"He sent Senator Turner to Washington with $25,000 to lobby in congress for a bill which gave him a right of way free into Alaska. Senator Turner was one of Frost's principal aids.

"The question here is not whether the United States land laws may be violated with impunity. It is not a question whether or not those laws are wise. The question is whether these defendants have violated the laws as they exist."

The last witness for the defense, Andrew Christensen, an employe in the government land office, was placed on the stand. He admitted that Francis H. Stewart, one of the three Canadians indicted, but who are not defendants in the case for the reason that they have not been apprehended, was in Chicago three days ago. He said Stewart came to Chicago to confer with the government attorneys in regard to the case under a promise of immunity. Mr. Townsend assumed responsibility for having given the "immunity bath" to Stewart.

STOPS YELLING NEWSBOYS.

Ogden, Utah, Police Chief Objects to Disturbers of Slumbers.

Ogden, Utah, April 4.—Hereafter the slumbers of the tired Ogdenite will not be disturbed by the big disasters which occasionally happen in different parts of the world. The word has gone out from Chief of Police W. I. Norton that the sleep of the well deserving shall not be molested by harsh notes of newsboys calling out the particular occurrence of the day during the early hours of the morning.

The disturbance apparently was noticed when two boys arrived from Salt Lake and immediately made their presence known by means of their vocal organs. Not being accustomed to any but the mild voice of the Ogden "newsy," slumberers sprang from resting places and hurriedly made ready to vacate, not knowing what had happened or where the disaster had occurred.

The two newsboys were taken before Chief Norton and lessons were given them on how to sell papers without noise. The new arrivals are now figuring on how to make sales without the aid of their lungs. A correspondence course in pantomimic study has been suggested.

For the Thin and Bloodless!

The thin and bloodless, with pale cheeks, white lips and frail angular physique, of this community have been much interested in the reports of physicians and others concerning the effectiveness of the treatment for increasing the red and white corpuscles of the blood, thus adding color and weight with its accompanying vigor to the depleted system. A gain of from ten to thirty pounds is not at all unusual where the treatment is regularly used for several months, while the color improves almost from the beginning. Most good apothecaries supply it in the form of three-grain hypo-nuclane tablets, put up in sealed packets, with directions for home use. Its action aids assimilation and absorption of the food eaten very promptly.

TARIFF ACT MAY BE COMPROMISE

Free Wool and Free Sugar Stir Up Opposition in Senate.

WILSON IN A CANVASS

Washington, D. C., April 4.—The completion of the new tariff revision bill, the character of the duty to be levied upon sugar, and the extent to which President Wilson will give the support of the administration to the completed measure depended last night upon the success that might attend the efforts of the president to reach an agreement with senate tariff leaders.

The tariff situation shifted to the senate with the prospect of much work ahead of the chief executive to smooth over disputed points, and to bring the senate, the house and his own views into harmony before the new bill is brought out to the gaze of the public.

Hold Conference With Wilson.

Senators Simmons, Stone and Hoke Smith, all members of the finance committee, had a long conference with President Wilson last evening. At its conclusion Senator Simmons, chairman of the committee, said the conference had been in every way satisfactory to the senate members.

A sweeping canvass of the senate has been undertaken to determine just how far the democratic members of that body will go in support of the policies laid down by the president.

The decision to put raw wool on the free list and the threat of free sugar have stirred up the democratic forces of the senate to such an extent that members of the finance committee told the president last night some important changes would have to made in the present draft of the bill if it is to meet with a cordial reception when it reaches the senate.

Gets News from Kern.

The president also saw Senator Hughes of New Jersey, another member of the finance committee and a radical revisionist, and Senator John W. Kern, the democratic leader of the senate. His conference with Senator Kern is understood to have given the president a fairly accurate idea of the sentiment that prevails in the senate over the proposed free wool and reduced sugar duties and over the sweeping reductions in other rates that have been determined upon by the house committee on ways and means.

The developments included the practical completion of the bill by the house ways and means committee along the lines agreed to with the president.

The senate leaders have made it clear that it would be impossible to pass the bill carrying both free wool and free sugar.

Looks Like Compromise.

It appeared fairly certain that the sugar duty would be prepared at a compromise of 1 cent a pound possibly with a provision that it should be entirely abolished in three years; that there should be a gradual reduction of 25 per cent a year from the existing duty, until it had disappeared.

The senate leader did not come to any definite agreement with the president. The results of their conference will be laid before the full democratic membership of the finance committee at a meeting called for 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. The determination of the committee then as to disputed questions will guide Senator Simmons in future conferences with the president and with Chairman Underwood of the ways and means committee.

An Everyday View of the Next Sunday School Lesson

April 6—Jacob and Esau.

(By J. L. Scott in The Continent.)

Lesson Text, Genesis 25:27-31; 27. Golden Text, Isaiah 20:18; Jehovah is a God of justice; blessed are all that wait for him.

Abraham comes to us as a superior being. He emerges from the unknown and walks through life as the friend of God. Isaac is comparatively passive, while Jacob and Esau touch life on every side. The best and the worst find exemplification in them. It sometimes requires two lives to develop one. Especially is this true of Jacob and Esau. They were the twin sons of Isaac and Rebekah. Esau was physically abnormal, being covered at his birth with a cloak of hair. For this reason he was named Esau, or "hairy." Jacob, on the contrary, was "smooth," a quality equally evident in man and manner. Esau was born first, closely followed by his brother, who reached out and caught him by the heel. This incident stamped him as Jacob, or "one who catches by the heel." No term could have been more fitting. Whenever Jacob saw another about to succeed, his method was to throw him down and seize the prize for himself. That Esau should have been born first was a crime which he could not forgive. It made him second in the race. So he resolved to supplant him.

Those Who Naturally Should Be Alike Sometimes Differ Most Widely.

The two grew up side by side, like trees from the same root. There is no problem like a boy, except it be the problem of two boys. The same ancestry and surroundings fail to produce the same results. That an Ishmael should have been born to Abraham was not strange. Ishmael's Egyptian mother could not be held accountable for every blot and blemish. But Isaac and Rebekah were grapes of the same vintage. From that tree the world would pluck the golden apples of a perfect life. But wait and see. The race is sometimes to the swift and sometimes to the slow.

Jacob and Esau soon began to develop the trend of their natures. Esau turned his face toward the reckless and the unknown, while the other crept close behind, grasping at his heel. Before them lay something that meant more than all else—the birthright. This was regarded as the gift of God. It was quoted in no markets, nor was it subjected to the caprice of any fortune. With it went the covenant promises of the Almighty. But why strive for the impossible? Men like Jacob, however, ask no such question.

Esau already had the prize, only he undervalued its worth. It placed him in the family succession, but his tastes took a different direction from theirs. One's pleasures are the real test of character. What we delight most to do may be taken as indicative of what we are. Esau was a sportsman. His bow and arrow were his favorite companions. Hunting would have been torture to Jacob, but Esau loved it as he did his life. The woods appealed to him more than the fields. Jacob, on the contrary, was a plain man, who delighted in the work of the farm. He cared for his flocks and counted them every day.

These sons had their respective admirers at home. Isaac loved Esau, while Rebekah preferred Jacob. Just why, we question if either knew. One can no more account for his tastes than he can for the color of his hair. Opposites frequently attract each other where likeness repels.

Sale of Birthright Determines Future of Jacob and Esau.

One can readily imagine how things went on in the patriarch's home. Human nature is always the same, in the tent or palace. The birthright no doubt absorbed more and more of the family interest, Esau alone excepted. As the twig grows the inclination of the tree becomes more apparent; and the two brothers only awaited an opportunity to confirm their futures.

That opportunity came in Esau's sale of his birthright to Jacob. One day he returned from a hunt tired and hungry and found his brother making lentil soup, a dish still common in that country. "Feed me," he exclaimed, "I pray thee, with that same red pottage; for I am faint." That was Esau—physical Esau. "Sell me first thy birthright." That was Jacob—cunning, covetous Jacob. The bargain was concluded and Esau for one mess of pottage sold his birthright. Small things are signboards of large things. Esau despised his birthright. He was not starving, and possibly, in the fascination of the hunt, did not even know that he was hungry. The buyer and the seller stand on the same plane. Subsequently Esau married wives from among the Hittites and became a grief of mind not only to his mother but to his father as well.

But love easily forgets and Isaac determines to confirm Esau in his position. The patriarch is now an old man and seems to regard himself as approaching the end. As a matter of fact he has some forty years yet before him, but no man can foretell the day of his death. Esau is sent out to obtain his favorite venison preparatory to the blessing. This was more than probably intended as a holy sacrifice, although of that we are uncertain. Rebekah becomes aware of what is about to take place and by a series of deceptions secures the blessing for Jacob. This is fully recorded in the text of the lesson and need not be repeated.

Blessings of Jacob and Esau Accorded With Their Natures.

The whole transaction is a sad commentary on the morals of the age. None of the parties involved is clear from suspicion. Isaac knew that the elder was to serve the younger, and no power could change it. Esau had sold his birthright already for a mess of pottage and now would redeem it with a plate of venison. The two blessings were in accord with the natures of the two sons. Jacob was to possess the "fatness of the earth," while Esau was to "live by his sword." That was what they were fitted for. Characters like Esau are misleading. They are capable of high impulses, but always lapse back to what they were: as for Jacob, he must be judged not by his former but later self. Although born a Jacob, he became an Israel, one who had power with God.

Birthrights belong to those who prize them. We are all born to the birthright of a respectable manhood, but many a one exchanges this priceless inheritance for a mess of pottage. No law can protect a man against himself. Life does not depend upon when we were born, but what. As with Esau, appetite and pleasure are the supplanters whom we need most to fear.

SAYS JOBS MUST WAIT ON TARIFF

Wilson Has Given Office-Seekers a Severe Sort of Chill.

OF MOST IMPORTANCE

(By Gilson Gardner.)

Washington, April 4.—President Wilson has told members of congress that there will be no general distribution of appointments until the tariff bill is out of the way. The president believes that the tariff is the most important business before congress. He knows that some appointments are apt to be the subject of controversy, and particularly in the senate that there may be opposition to certain confirmations, and he says frankly that he prefers to postpone these matters until they can be considered by themselves. He intends to concentrate on the tariff. The bill for tariff revision is to be an administration measure, stamped clearly as such. It will be considered in the cabinet and every member of the cabinet is expected to help in bringing it to its final shape. The president has expressed a preference for revising the tariff schedule by schedule, but has been strongly urged by Representative Underwood and others to allow the revision to be handled in one measure. They tell him that the advantage of the single schedule plan is lost if the revision is undertaken at one session and that the opportunities for log-rolling are equal under either plan. The president does not insist upon any particular method. He wants results and will not quarrel with the method of obtaining them.

President Wilson has made it plain that he also desires financial legislation at this session. He believes that the passage of a tariff law may result in a quickening of imports and a period of business readjustment, and that it would be wise to provide by currency legislation for banking conditions which will take care of this business in a healthy way.

The opening of the special session of congress will be marked by an unusual incident. It will be the challenging of Representative H. Olin Young of Michigan, when he steps forward to take his oath. Victor Murdock, as leader of the "bridge-burner" progressives, will make the challenge. Young's seat is contested by W. J. MacDonald. It appears that Young's supposed election was accomplished by a few hundred votes and that the result would have been reversed except for the mistake of a printer in spelling the name of MacDonald on the ballot in one of the counties. Six hundred votes for MacDonald were thrown out in this county on account of an error by the telegraph company in transmitting the initials of MacDonald's name. This technicality enables Young to claim the seat. If Young is permitted to take the oath it will be a year before the case is decided by the contest committee of the house, and during that time Young will draw the salary, while MacDonald will be kept from the privileges of membership. It is unusual, however, to challenge a man previous to taking the oath. There will be a preliminary wrangle and delay, and possibly a record vote before the house can be organized.

Withholds Resignation.

Mr. Branning declined today to make public the resignation on the ground that it is addressed to the board of education and that it should first be submitted to the members and then given out.

It is understood, however, that Mr. Felger did not take up in his resignation the question of his guilt or innocence of the charges preferred against him by the grand jury, but stated that the good of the schools can best be served by his retirement.

There will be a meeting of the trustees some time next week if it can be arranged. Mr. Branning announced that he would get them together just as soon as practicable and present the resignation. He said further:

"Mr. Felger this morning handed me his resignation as county superintendent of schools and I have received the same as president of the Allen County Board of Education, which is composed of the trustees of the several townships of the county. The resignation will be effective as soon as the board can agree upon a successor. It is impossible to state when that will be, but undoubtedly within the present month. The office is altogether too important a one to fill hurriedly and without careful consideration. In the meantime Mr. Felger has agreed to remain temporarily in charge, performing such duties as the emergencies of the school system may require. He is thoroughly in touch with all its needs and no fault has ever been found with the performance of his official duties.

No Good From Discussion.

"No good can come to the schools from further discussion of the matter, and in this connection I wish to refute the statement that political influence from any source has been exercised, or attempted, to control the action of the board in this matter. The board is nonpartisan and every member has always endeavored to keep its actions free from partisan or political influence. No motive has ever controlled the board but the single one of the welfare of the school system."

Mr. Branning also stated that the examination of teachers on Saturday would be in the immediate charge of A. A. Ringwalt, whose services have been many times required recently in this connection, owing to the fact that office duties on Saturday usually require the entire time of the superintendent. Mr. Felger will grade the papers as usual.

In Office Ten Years.

Mr. Felger has been in office for about ten years and at the time of his election he had a hard fight, but since that time, in recognition of his satisfactory service, there has been little opposition to his election at the expiration of each term of office. He stoutly maintains his innocence of any wrongdoing.

NEW PARTY CAUCUS IS OPEN TO PUBLIC; WOMEN HAVE PART

to the polls in November to vote for Theodore Roosevelt."

Called to Order.

The caucus was called to order by Representative Hinebaugh, of Illinois, as temporary chairman.

"I esteem it a great honor," said Mr. Hinebaugh in his opening speech, "to have the privilege of calling to order the first conference of the representatives of the progressive party.

Four million five hundred thousand attended the birth of our party and a much larger number have signified their intention of guarding and directing its growth. All great movements are the result of the awakened conscience of the people. The overlords of special privilege would not heed the people's wrath, organized greed refused to stay its hand and so the progressive party was born. The nation will little note nor long remember what we say here; but what we do in the sixty-third congress if we earnestly endeavor to carry out the instructions of those who sent us will never be forgotten. We are making history.

"We stand for the open caucus. We will not be bound by the party whip. We believe the people are entitled to know how their business is transacted."

Murdock Accepts.

Representative Murdock, accepting the nomination for speaker closed his address as follows:

"Of every American citizen, man and woman, we ask co-operation. Of every American who is seeking to restore, through the intricacies and complexities of the day, the line that divides right from wrong we ask help. If he is able to see through the spectacle of material prosperity the wan face of the child factory worker; if through the darkness he can feel the distress of underpaid and overworked women, then his place is in the ranks of the progressives.

"We set the public welfare in first place. To those who are hesitant because of party ties we bid welcome to our ranks.

"Peter and John came to the gate where a beggar sat, moved by the narrowest of human conceptions, lifting his palm for alms. Peter, fresh from the radiance of the Master who had come with the last word of truth and of brotherhood among men, said to the beggar: "Silver and gold have I none. But such as I have give I thee."

"We are not asking alms of our hour. We are moved by the inspiration of this day—the desire to serve. We serve truth, not repose. We have turned our back on the past and its prejudices. We are facing the future and its bounty brotherhood. Whosoever will may come."

States could have free sugar and the Louisiana planters continue to take part in the industry.

The senate finance committee reached its first copy of the tariff bill today and spent three hours discussing it. The possibility of a compromise on sugar makes it apparent that there will be less difficulty than was first expected. It appeared certain after the meeting that free wool would be retained in the measure. Senators Simons, James and Hughes were appointed a committee to confer at once with Chairman Underwood, of the ways and means committee.

The cabinet discussed the sugar compromise and the whole tariff bill situation at the regular meeting today. It was said there were no differences of opinion among the members or with the president.

Illinois Supreme Court Declines to Decide Political Case.

Springfield, Ill., April 4.—The supreme court today refused to assume the responsibility of giving a decision as to whether the republican or progressive party is the minority party in Illinois, declining the motion of Danville progressives for a petition to file mandamus proceedings against County Judge Allen, to compel him to name a progressive as member of the Danville election commission.

In denying the motion Chief Justice Dunn said:

"This is not a case of general public interest. It is a local matter and no reason appears why a sufficiently adequate remedy may not be obtained, if any remedy is necessary upon application to the local courts of Vermillion county."

ENGLISH ROADS ALARMED.

Fear Militant Suffragists Will Burn Railway Stations.

London, April 4.—Warnings were sent out today by the directorates of all the railroad systems in the United Kingdom to the effect that militant suffragists had threatened to burn stations in various parts of the country. Patrols will be stationed at all stations and in tunnels. Some trains were dynamited near Stockport, Cheshire, and suffragettes are suspected.

Two girls suspected of being militant suffragettes about to commit an outrage were arrested before dawn today. They carried bags containing paraffine, paper saturated with oil, candles, matches and etc. In each of the bags was a paper bearing the scrawl: "Beware how you treat Mrs. Pankhurst." The girls, when brought up at the police court, gave their names as Phyllis Brady and Millicent Dean. They had explained to the policeman who arrested them that they were returning from their Easter holiday.

She was one of the most talented vocalists of this city, and was a member of the Third Presbyterian church. The husband is employed at S. F. Bowser & Co. CHARGED WITH MURDER.

Former Pittsburg Man Held for Death of Woman at Lakewood, N. J.

Toms River, N. J., April 4.—W. J. Leehan, formerly employed as a private secretary by Mrs. E. M. Horne, of Pittsburg, is in jail here today charged with the murder of Mrs. Charles L. Turner, of Lakewood, N. J., who was the wife of an employe on the estate of George J. Gould. On April 26, 1911, her body was found in a clump of wood at Lakewood, the face beaten into the earth, the skull fractured. She had apparently battled for her honor before she died. Leehan lived in Lakewood at that time, but subsequently moved to White Plains, N. Y. He is married.

Private detectives have been on the prisoner's trail for sixteen months. One of them gained his confidence and lured him into New Jersey for arrest. He collapsed, but denied his guilt.

BODY NOW ABOARD LINER.

Remains of J. Pierpont Morgan to Begin Ocean Journey.

Havre, France, April 4.—The body of J. Pierpont Morgan arrived today from Rome and was transferred to the liner France for transportation to New York. Military honors were accorded during the transfer of the body from the train to the steamer. A battalion of infantry formed an escort, headed by the regimental band, which played Chopin's "Funeral March." The regimental flags draped with mourning emblems were carried behind the coffin. A mortuary chapel was arranged on board the France for the reception of the coffin. It was hung with black velvet fringed with gold.

ROLLING MILLS SCHOOL OPEN.

The school in the rolling mills district, closed during the high water, was opened today, and Trustee Henry Branning says the building is in condition to care for the scholars.

DOORS OPEN TO NEGRO WOMEN.

Suffrage Convention Ignores Protests of Hotel Men.

St. Louis, April 4.—The Missippi Valley suffrage conference began its closing session today with its doors wide open to negro women, despite the protests of the management of the hotel where the conference is being held, that the rules of the house prohibited the presence of negroes.

At the close of the meeting yesterday, Mrs. Victoria Haley, the negress whose presence caused the commotion, was asked by several of the suffrage leaders to attend the conference today and to bring several of her negro friends with her. She promised to do so. Mrs. Haley attended the conference at the request of Mrs. Booker T. Washington.

SLUGS MANAGER EVERS.

Chicago Trainer's Resignation in Form of Blow on Jaw.

Chicago, April 4.—Alleged dissension between Manager John Evers and members of the Chicago National league base ball club came to a head with the return of the team here today after a seven weeks' training trip when Trainer Semmons presented his resignation in the form of a blow to the manager's jaw.

The fight occurred just as the train was pulling into this city from Kansas City. The Journal this afternoon declares that the training trip has not been as harmonious as had been reported. Evers, the Journal learns from persons who took the trip, has not been able to control his temper and there have been numerous minor squabbles.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES.

Ernest Frenchte of 2720 Broadway, has been reported ill with diphtheria and the home was placed under quarantine today.

YOUNG WIFE SEEKS DIVORCE.

Worcester, Mass., April 4.—One of the youngest wives to appear before a New England court in search of a divorce is Mrs. Mary Moranon, aged 14. She told Judge Utley that her husband, who is 28, has failed to provide her with sufficient food since their marriage three months ago. Only once a week the husband bought meat, said the little wife, and the only groceries he would bring home were macaroni and lard.

The justice called the young couple to his desk and told them they had better start their married life all over again. They left the court room together.

TRAIN SERVICE TIED UP.

Bloomington, April 4.—The Monon railroad bridge over White river, just south of Gosport, was weakened by the flood and no trains were allowed to cross it today. The Louisville and Chicago trains come to a stop on either side of the bridge and transfer the passengers. The stopping of all through freight is working a hardship on this city, which is about out of fuel.

NO BUILDING AT FAIR.

Sacramento, Cal., April 4.—Gov. Hiram W. Johnson has notified representatives of the Panama-Pacific exposition that there would be no California building at the world's fair in 1915. An empty treasury, he said, precluded it.

CLERKS GO ON STRIKE.

Bosses and Bookkeepers Serve Trade at East Liverpool.

East Liverpool, O., April 4.—Approximately 300 clerks employed in the retail stores of this city struck today, leaving none but proprietors and accountants to wait on customers. Of these, however, there were few, as the strike has the indorsement of the union labor element, which includes 10,000 operative potters and many men of the building trades. The clerks asked higher wages and better working conditions.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, April 4.—Higher Liverpool cables gave strength to wheat here today, prices at the start being ¼c to ¾@1¼c net higher. Reports from Russia continue to show decreased supplies while demand for wheat from other exporting countries showed improvement. May wheat opened at 91¾c to 91¾@91¼c, an advance of ¼c to ⅝c, and sold up to 91⅝c.

The close was easy, with May at 91½@91⅝c, a net advance of ⅜@½c.

Considerable selling pressure was brought to bear on May corn by leading houses. May opened ¼c to ⅜@½c higher at 54⅜@54⅞c to 54⅝c and declined to 54½@54⅝c.

At the finish the market was strong, with May ⅛c net higher at 54⅝@54⅞c.

Pit traders bought oats pretty freely and May steadied around 34⅞c. The opening was unchanged to a shade higher at 34⅜@34½c to 34⅞c.

General selling of provisions at the start caused a sharp setback, the market being 10@12½c lower to 2½c higher, but later there was a better demand and prices became steadier. Opening figures for May were: Pork, $20.32½ to $20.35; lard, $10.95 to $11; ribs, $11.25.

New York, April 4.—The sudden upward movement of stocks late yesterday was continued through the forenoon trading today. Sentiment was more cheerful and traders were disposed to take into consideration the favorable underlying influences such as the worldwide relaxation of monetary strain, the large general movement of trade and the technical market conditions produced by excessive short selling. Bonds were firm.

Stocks were in keen demand when trading began today, and large blocks of the favorite issues were marketed at rising prices. Increase of the Rubber dividend after the close yesterday sent up the price of the stock with a rush. The first transaction was 2,000 shares at 69 to 69½, a maximum gain of 4¾. Reading, Canadian Pacific, Beet Sugar, Can, Smelting, Biscuit, General Electric and Bethlehem Steel gained one to two points.

The market closed firm. Buying by commission houses was an influential factor in the improvement in the market.

BELS RING OUT WARNING

Two carloads of foodstuffs have been sent to the city by members of the Mennonite church for the benefit of flood sufferers. The food was sent in care of Rev. B. B. King, pastor of the Mennonite church of this city.

30,000 Call for Help.

Thirty thousand persons within a radius of 90 miles around Mt. Vernon, Ind., are calling for help, according to Guy B. Green, river forecaster at that point, who was reached by telephone this afternoon. He said that with 40 boats in the rescue service, attention had been confined to taking persons from endangered homes and taking them to Mt. Vernon. He said no effort was being made to supply the marooned farmers with food.

The greatest suffering is on the Illinois side of the Wabash, according to the forecaster. In addition to the thousands of persons in want, Mr. Green said between 50,000 and 75,000 live stock will perish unless measures are taken at once to save them.

Captain W. K. Naylor, United States army officer in charge of the relief work here went to Mt. Vernon this afternoon. A government boat with 40,000 rations was expected this afternoon from Louisville and it probably will be ordered to proceed to Mt. Vernon.

NEW WASHOUT THREATENS.

Cairo Still Battling Against Steadily Rising Flood Waters.

Cairo, Ill., April 4.—In order to prevent the levee from breaking on the Ohio river side of Cairo, a force of workmen had to be rushed there early today when a washout was threatened between Nineteenth and Twenty-fourth streets. High winds had caused the river to cut into the bank to such an extent that danger was imminent and several hundred bags of sand were carried to the place from the Ohio river levee in automobiles and further erosion of the bank was prevented for the time. The water on the Mississippi side is well below the levee top. Water which has backed into the Caiche river at Mound City, Ill., has found an outlet in the Mississippi and has caused a slight rise in that stream. Small life rafts have been placed throughout the city and in readiness for a big break should it come.

Flood waters in the Ohio began to rise again early today and at 7 o'clock the gauge reading was 54.7. The water had hovered about the 54.6 mark for nearly twelve hours, despite the fact that a steady rain fell during the night. The banking of sand bags at Fourteenth street was found to be permitting a considerable amount of seepage early today and all the workmen available were gathered there to reinforce it. The condition was not considered alarming.

Reports from the Reelfoot levee district said that 1,000 men were working to save a break in the levees of that section, which is well down the Mississippi. A break there would bring relief here within less than an hour. The enormous extent of the district, most of it lowland, would take a vast volume of water before it would be flooded. The weather today was chilly and the wind had switched to the north. Considered from every standpoint, conditions were regarded as hopeful for at least another week.

DAYTON FEARS ANOTHER.

Downpour Sends Miami River Up and Streets Are Again Flooded.

Dayton, Ohio, April 4.—Ten more inches of water in the Miami river will give Dayton another flood. A ten-hour downpour, which did not end until 1 o'clock this morning, together with clogged sewer intakes, flooded many streets in the city last night. Monument avenue, Third, east and west of the business section, parts of Main street, Wayne avenue and other thoroughfares, stood upwards of one foot deep. Much apprehension was felt in Riverdale because of the washed conditions of the levees and guardsmen assisted by many residents, kept a constant vigil.

The same condition prevailed in Edgemont, because of the deep gash cut in the levee near the Washington street bridge. Telephone reports from Piqua, Bellefontaine, Troy and other places north indicated that there has been incessant rain and Dayton will get the issue.

It was necessary today to dynamite a number of rubbish piles along the river that the accumulation might float away.

HICKMAN LEVEE GOES.

Memphis, Tenn., April 4.—A telephone message from Hickman, Ky., stated that the levee there went out shortly after 12:30 o'clock today, flooding the factory district. No loss of life was reported.

TODAY'S FLOOD BULLETIN.

Washington, April 4.—Today's special flood bulletin:

"The crest of the lower Ohio flood is in the vicinity of Evansville, Ind., where the stage of the river Friday morning was 46.2 feet, 13.2 feet above flood stage. The river at Cairo continues to rise slowly and is now at a stage of 54.7 feet, a rise of .2 feet since Thursday morning. The Mississippi river south of Cairo continues to rise slowly."

REFUGEES NEED PROVISIONS.

Shawneetown, Ill., April 4, via De Koven, Ky.)—Nearly a thousand flood refugees behind the hills here are in serious want of provisions. Appeals have been made to Congressman Fowler, Col. Bixby and state officials, but because of the lack of communications no assurance of relief has been received.

DEATH COMES TO THEO. THORWARD

Mr. Thorward was widely known in this city, residing here from 1881 until twelve years ago, when he went to South Bend. For awhile after coming to this city he was a teacher of German in Taylor university. Then he became local manager of the Fleischman Yeast company, and resigned this position to become manager of the Home Telephone company upon its organization here. He was its first manager and was succeeded by the present manager, W. L. Moellering. His home while in this city was on Miner street in South Wayne and he was clerk and treasurer of that corporation, succeeding E. W. Cook, and continuing in that office from 1895 until the annexation of the suburb to the city of Fort Wayne.

Following his retirement in Fort Wayne from the management of the Home Telephone company he became active in promoting telephone systems at different points and built the systems at Logansport and South Bend. Following the organization of the company at South Bend he was made the president of it and with his family moved to that city.

Mr. Thorward was 54 years of age. He was born in Germany in the year 1859. Coming to the United States while quite young, he lived for several years with relatives in Ohio, where he received his education in the public schools, afterward working his way through the German Methodist Episcopal college of Wallace, at Berea, Ohio. After this time he engaged in several different occupations until 1881, when he came to Fort Wayne.

Twenty- three years ago he was married to Miss Minnie Dendel of Hopkins Station, Mich. He is survived by his wife and two sons, Benjamin Thorward of Conneaut Harbor, Ohio, and George T. Thorward of South Bend.

Mr. Thorward was an active member of the Knights of Pythias lodge and a member of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks. He was prominent in politics while living in this city and an active worker in the republican ranks, with which party he was identified.

were shut down because they could not get water and outside of the districts that were inundated many wage earners have sustained considerable loss.

Calls Received Steadily.

There has been a steady stream of calls at relief headquarters during the day and where clothing is sought the women in charge of this department have insisted on getting rid of the stock on hand. Many people forget the conditions and insist on new clothes.

The garments in stock are good, most of them perfectly clean and many are not cast off stuff at all but contributions by people who were willing to divide the clothing they had been in the habit of wearing with the sufferers from high water.

Meat and bread wagons, automobiles and other vehicles have been sent out over the affected districts and supplies delivered at the doors of people not able to apply in person to the committee.

The fund subscribed by the charitable citizens are still intact as no bills have been paid but there is plenty on hand to meet the demand for today. Secretary Harry Kaufman will call a meeting of the committee for this afternoon or tonight at which the question of aiding Dayton will be taken up. There are some other matters to come before the gathering and plans for continuing the work will be outlined.

Working Until Midnight.

More than eleven hundred orders had been issued this afternoon and the wagons and automobiles loaned for the delivery service were kept running until last midnight to deliver mattresses to people who were in their homes but practically without bedding.

Nearly 15,000 loaves of bread have been contributed by the Perfection Biscuit company, the Geller and Haffner bakeries have donated liberally and the coal dealers have placed 100 tons of coal at the disposal of the committee and this is being delivered in quarter ton lots.

Working Hard on Dike.

More than thirty teams and a hundred men are working to repair the big break in the dike on St. Joe boulevard in order that it will hold if there is another freshet to start the rivers on the rampage.

This is not probable, however, if weather traditions hold good as one late flood is the general average and it is likely the rivers will settle down now and behave themselves at least through the summer months.

Damage is being repaired in all parts of the city, the most important receiving attention first. Members of the board of public works have divided the city into districts and each one of them is out to look over his particular section every day.

Rolling Mills to Start.

It is probable that the eight-inch and puddle mills at the rolling mills will be started on Monday of next week and that within a few days after that the whole plant will be in operation.

This means the employes forced to seek aid will be able to take care of themselves and the calls for relief will be materially decreased.

SAVES HUSBAND FROM BULL.

Farmer's Plucky Wife Effects Nervy Rescue Just in Time.

Demar, Del., April 3.—John K. Lynch, a farmer living between here and Ridgely, was saved by his wife from being killed by his bull, a thoroughbred Jersey. He was in the barn when the infuriated animal rushed at him, pinning him against a brick wall, breaking two ribs and otherwise injuring him internally. Lynch's 2-year-old son was the only witness and his screams attracted the mother from the house, fifty yards from the barn. Upon her arrival she found her husband lying under the bull's feet. Quickly seizing a pitchfork, she jammed the prongs into the animal. This maddened the bull, which made another dash for Lynch, who already was in a helples condition, but Mrs. Lynch again shot the fork into the animal with terrific force, conquering the beast.

APPLE LAND

HERE IS YOUR OPPORTUNITY, ONLY $45.00 PER ACRE.

Compare this price to what others ask. It's foolishness to be carried away with a lot of hot-air promoters' promises and fail to believe that there is no apple land left, only at $200 to $500 per acre. My western travels have taught me different. I am about to divide 500 acres of as good fruit land as you will find in the United States, into 50 and 100 acre tracts. $45.00 per acre if you take 100 acres, otherwise $60.00 per acre for smaller tracts. In other words, I sell you 100 acres for about the same price others ask for 10 acres, and I guarantee every tract as represented or no sale. You run absolutely no risk when you deal with me. I would rather win your confidence than take your money. Consequently I make this exceptionally big offer. I will be pleased to meet you and talk California lands. Call, write or phone

SIGN DIVIDES ART CRITICS.

Some Say It is Naughty, Others Oppose; Mayor to Decide.

Portland, Ore., April 4.—War has broken out in Portland art circles among the liberals and the conservatives, and Mayor Rushlige has consented to play Anthony Comstock's role in order to settle the controversy.

The trouble arose when a brewing company erected a large electric sign near the east approach to the Hawthorne bridge. The sign shows the nude bust of a woman and a little child. Conservative are critics, through women's clubs of the east side, declare that the sign is indecent and immoral. They say it should be removed. The liberal faction opposes this view, declaring the sign to be a work of art. The owners of the sign refuse to remove it and now the matter has been put up to the mayor for decision, both sides agreeing that he is a qualified judge of art and its proprieties.

COUNTY LOCK-UP IS RUNNING OVER

Judge Mungovan is Forced to Release the Minor Offenders.

HAS 100 PRISONERS

Municipal Judge Mungovan this morning released another bunch of offenders charged with public intoxication and other misdemeanors, on account of the crowded condition of the county jail. This bastile now contains in the neighborhood of 100 prisoners, but Thursday noon 110 were housed therein, and nine were released this morning.

This number makes it necessary to utilize about every nook and corner in the building and two or three have to be packed in one cell. The "jug" is unusually unsanitary at present on account of the lack of water during the flood and the great number of residents housed in the place.

Farense Moses, a resident of the rolling mills district, charged with refusing to give his true tax list, drew a continuance before Judge Mungovan this morning until April 8, and he is held under $25 bond. The man is one of the foreigners who are rebelling because they say that the county failed to provide the proper relief for them when their homes were submerged in the recent flood waters.

A half dozen plain drunks, together with Frank Smith, charged with loitering, were told to get work or beat it out of the city.

TUBE'S SPEECH WAS FIREY.

Flame From Mouthpiece on Wall Burned Off an Eyebrow.

New York, April 4. James Henderson, of Drake avenue, New Rochelle, lost his right eyebrow in a strange way.

Henderson, an electrician, was repairing a bell in the store of the New York Tailoring company, at 242 Main street. The wires ran through a speaking tube connected with the second floor. He inserted a lighted match in the tube to see the wires better. The paraffine insulation on the wires caught fire.

Just then some one blew down the speaking tube and the flame, shooting from the lower end, burned off Henderson's right eyebrow.

$1,500 FOR DEATH OF DOG.

Express Company Must Pay for Animan Killed in Transit.

Philadelphia, April 4.—A jury in court here held that the Adams Express company was liable for the death of a show dog which was being shipped from Braintree, Mass., to its owner in this city, and awarded $1,500 damages.

The dog, a bull, was shown in the Massachusetts town and was known as Prince Regent. Its owner said the animal was suffocated in transit to this city as a result of the manner in which trunks and other baggage were piled about the crate in which the "blue ribbon dog" was traveling.

The express company averred the dog's death was due to other causes and that in any event its liability was limited to $75. Expert witnesses testified that the dog was worth $2,000.

IMMIGRATION INCREASES.

52,000 More Persons at Ellis Island in Three Months Than in 1912.

New York, April 4.—The annual tide of immigration at this port is again approaching the flood mark reached in years preceding the financial panic of 1907, according to figures of a quarterly report just issued by Health Officer Joseph J. O'Connell. There were 342,763 persons inspected at Ellis island during the first three months of this year. This is an increase of nearly 52,000 over the corresponding period of 1912. The number of third class passengers was nearly 160,000, an increase of about 41,500.
